Economic fugitives not welcome in Britain: UK PM Johnson

NEW DELHI: India and the UK on Friday decided to set up a task force on countering extremist elements such as pro-Khalistan groups operating in Britain, with British Prime Minister Boris Johnson asserting that his country does not tolerate such elements.

After holding wide-ranging talks with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Johnson also said that economic fugitives seeking to use the British legal system to evade the law in India are not welcome in Britain.

At a press conference, Johnson said the UK government has ordered the extradition of economic offenders wanted in India but legal technicalities are making the process difficult.

Asked about concerns over reports of human rights violations and the rise of Hindu nationalism in India, Johnson said the UK raises these issues in a "friendly way" but added that India is a great democracy and it has constitutional protection for its communities.

"On our relations with India and how we deal with questions around human rights and democratic values, of course, we have these conversations but the advantage of our friendship is that we can have them, and we can have them in a friendly and private way," he said. AGENCIES

After his wide-ranging talks with Modi on the second and final day of his India visit, Johnson said the UK is creating an Open General Export Licence (OGEL) for India to "reduce bureaucracy and slashing delivery times" for defence procurement.

The British prime minister said both sides agreed to work together to meet new threats across land, sea, air space and cyber domains and that the UK will partner with India on new fighter jet technology as well as in the maritime sphere to detect and respond to threats in the oceans.

BJP accuses Rahul of 'sowing seeds of hatred'

NEW DELHI: The BJP on Wednesday accused Rahul Gandhi of maligning the country's image and sowing the seeds of hatred after the Congress leader attacked the ruling party over the use of bulldozers in riot-hit areas of Delhi and states like Madhya Pradesh.

Replying to a question on Gandhi's comments, Union minister Anurag Thakur said in an apparent reference to the opposition party, "This is all you can expect from someone whose history is linked to corruption and riots."

"He is doing no good to the country by sowing the seeds of hatred. He is maligning the country's image," Thakur told a press conference where he highlighted the government's work during 'Azadi ka amrit mahotsav', an exercise aimed at celebrating India's 75th anniversary of Independence.

Gandhi had attacked the government over the use of bulldozers in violence-hit areas of Delhi and Madhya Pradesh, and urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to switch off "bulldozers of hate" and switch on power plants.

The BJP leader also hit back at the Aam Aadmi Party for accusing the ruling party of instigating riots and saying that its headquarters should be bulldozed.

It is a party which goes to the extent of compromising with terrorists for power, Thakur alleged. AGENCIES

India extends duration of USD 400 mn currency swap facility with Sri Lanka

COLOMBO: In an unstinted and multi-faceted support to Sri Lanka which is grappling with its worst-ever economic crisis, India has extended the duration of the USD 400 million currency swap facility which had been concluded with the island nation in January.

This was the first extension of an international debt instrument to Sri Lanka after the government led by President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on April 12 temporarily suspended debt servicing. The embattled government had announced an orderly default until the country came to an agreement with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for a possible bailout package. India's unstinted and multi-faceted support to Sri Lanka continued. As ongoing currency support, @RBI extended the duration of the US$ 400 million currency swap for @CBSL which was concluded in #January this year, the High Commission of India said on Twitter. However, the debt service suspension was not applicable to currency swap arrangements with other central banks. The debt default came as the island nation was grappling with its worst-ever economic crisis compounded by forex shortages and a balance of payments crisis. Sri Lanka had also drawn on Indian credit lines worth USD 1 billion for essential imports and separate ones for the importation of fuel.

The island nation's central bank started borrowing from other central banks and the market through swaps as reserves were lost due to money printed to keep rates down, the Economy Next news service said in a report. Sri Lanka's economists have printed money under various pretexts, delayed market rate rises through various monetary instruments and triggered currency crises for 72 years and blamed them on budget deficits and imports, the report said. AGENCIES

Adopt 'nation-first' approach to decision making: PM Modi to civil servants

NEW DELHI: Emphasising a "nation-first" approach to decision-making, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said there cannot be any compromise on the unity and integrity of the country and even decisions at the local level should be made on this touchstone.

Addressing civil servants on the 15th Civil Services Day at Vigyan Bhawan here, he said every decision should be evaluated on the basis of its capacity to strengthen the country's unity and integrity. PM Modi said in the country's democratic set-up, "we should be committed to three goals".

"The first goal is that there should be a change in the life of the common people in the country, their life should be easy and they should also be able to feel this ease. The common people should not have to struggle in their dealings with the government, benefits and services should be available to them without hassle," he said.

Secondly, given the growing stature and changing profile of India, it is imperative that things should be done in the global context, he said. "If we do not follow the activities at the global level, it will be very difficult to ascertain our priorities and focus area. "We need to develop our schemes and governance models keeping this perspective in mind," he added.

Thirdly, Modi said, "Wherever we are in the system, our prime responsibility is the unity and integrity of the country, there cannot be any compromise. Even local decisions should be measured on this touchstone".

Every decision should be evaluated on the basis of its capacity to strengthen the country's unity and integrity, Modi said, adding "nation-first (approach) should always inform our decisions". The prime minister also underlined the need to update systems and governance models regularly, saying "we cannot deal with the challenges of today with systems of the last century".

Referring to 'Amrit Kaal', the 25-year lead-up to the centenary year of independence in 2047, Modi said it cannot just be a "routine" or simply for celebration or praising the journey from the 75th year to the 100th year of independence. "India @100 cannot be routine. This 25-year period should be seen as one unit and we should have a vision from now onwards itself. This celebration should be a watershed," he said. Every district of the country should move with this spirit, he said. AGENCIES

India tops milk production in world, turnover higher than wheat & rice output: PM Modi

BANASKANTHA: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said India produces milk worth Rs 8.5 lakh crore annually, more than the turnover of wheat and rice, with small farmers being the biggest beneficiaries of the dairy sector.

Now, India is the world's largest producer of milk. When the livelihood of crores of farmers depend on milk, India produces milk worth Rs 8.5 lakh crore annually, something that many people, including big economists, do not pay attention to," the prime minister said while addressing a gathering at Diyodar in the Banaskantha district after inaugurating a new dairy complex and a potato processing plant of the Banas Dairy. AGENCIES

HC seeks Delhi govt response on plea against withdrawal of DTC buses from schools

Delhi High Court on Tuesday sought response from the city government on a public interest litigation against the withdrawal of DTC bus services from schools.

A bench headed by Justice Acting VipinSanghi issued notice to the city government and Delhi Transport Corporation (DTC) on the petition by social activist Baba Alexander and asked the respondents to place on record the material which led to the decision and noted that private schools had been using DTC buses for decades as means of transport for students.

The bench, also comprising Justice NavinChawla, further observed that the parents as well as the students were suffering due to the withdrawal of the DTC buses and that the decision is also leading to more traffic on the roads.

Delhi government lawyer Sameer Vashisht stated that only private schools were using DTC buses for their students and the arrangement was contractual in nature.

He informed the court that more buses were needed for the public and the private schools were free to use other private carriages for transporting their students.

You can't take advantage of Covid situation. Schools are also transporting children Children are also public. Nobody is saying that you do it for free. You produce your record to justify your decision, the court stated.

(The decision to withdraw DTC buses from schools) has led to children and parents suffering as the responsibility of transporting the children has fallen on the parents. This is also leading to more traffic on the roads. Issue notice, said the court.

The petitioner has contended that the withdrawal of DTC buses from schools without any justifiable reason has caused deep sense of agony and disappointment among the parents and also impinges on the right to clean environment under Article 21 of the Constitution.

In the petition filed through lawyer Robin Raju, Deepa Joseph and Blessan Mathews, the petitioner has stated that the decision would increase vehicular pollution and traffic woes.

The decision also causes anxiety to parents and increases their financial burden as they would have to pay more in the name of transportation charges at a time when COVID-19 is still around, it added. The matter would be heard next on August 3.

Situation returning to normalcy in Delhi's Jahangirpuri, say cops

NEW DELHI: The situation in Jahangirpuri of northwest Delhi is heading towards normalcy amid heavy deployment of security personnel in the violence-hit area, police said on Tuesday.

Some of the shops, mainly of grocery, in the streets have opened and the movement of people is becoming normal, they said. Over 500 police personnel and six companies of additional force have been deployed in the area around the clock.

Besides, a total of 80 tear gas gun parties and water cannons have been deployed and drones are also being used in sensitive areas for rooftop surveillance, police said. Clashes broke out between two communities during a Hanuman Jayanti procession in Jahangirpuri on Saturday, in which eight police personnel and a local resident were injured.

According to police, incidents of stone-pelting and arson were reported during the clashes and some vehicles were also torched. Meanwhile, the road in front of the mosque where the procession was allegedly attacked has been shut and the entire area cordoned off with barricades by police. Police have also pitched tents near the barricades.

All senior officers have been instructed to be at the spot to avoid any untoward incident. On Monday, a peace march was organised by police, along with the members of Aman Committee, in the Jahangirpuri area. The committee appealed to the people of the area to maintain peace and harmony, not to spread and trust rumours or misinformation and to report mischievous activities, police said. Bulldozers being run in Jahangirpuri under guise of illegal construction: Mayawati

BSP president Mayawati on Thursday came down heavily on the use of bulldozers in Delhi's violence-hit Jahangirpuri area, and said using religion as a tool in such exercises can harm mutual harmony and anti-national forces can take advantage of the situation.

"Bulldozers are being run under the guise of illegal construction in different states of the country including Jahangirpuri in Delhi in which poor people are also being affected, whereas the government should also take strict action against officials whose corruption has led to illegal constructions," the BSP chief said in a tweet in Hindi.

Several structures in Jahangirpuri were razed during an anti-encroachment drive conducted by the BJP-ruled North Delhi Municipal Corporation (NDMC) amid a heavy deployment of paramilitary and police personnel on Wednesday until the authorities received "a written order" from the Supreme and also agreed to hear a petition challenging the civic body's action allegedly aimed against those involved in Saturday's communal clashes in the area.

The former Uttar Pradesh chief minister said strict action should be taken against those who are the original culprits, "At the same time, if religion is also used for this, then it will end mutual harmony in the country and anti-national forces can also take advantage of it. Governments must think on this matter also"

Court to stop it. The apex court stayed the anti-encroachment drive

HC refuses to interfere with allotment of Delhi Waqf graveyard' to ITBP

The Delhi High Court on Wednesday refused to interfere with the Centre's decision on the allotment of a graveyard allegedly owned by the Delhi Waqf Board to the Indo Tibetan Border Police (ITBP), saying that it is not uncommon for graves to be shifted when they cause any obstruction in development activity.

A bench headed by Acting Chief Justice VipinSanghi said it was not inclined to interfere with the single judge's order declining to grant the interim relief of stay to the Delhi Waqf Board in relation to the construction activity on the plot and noted that the rights of the Board have been protected.

On March 9, the single judge, while dealing with the Board's petition against the Centre's move to re-consider the de-listing of 123 Waqf properties, had opined that there was no ground to grant a stay and observed that the property was allotted to the ITBP sometime in 2017 and in case the Board succeeds in the present proceedings, the allotment can be cancelled.

"We are not inclined to interfere as the same is an interim order and the appellant's rights have been protected," said the bench also comprising Justice NavinChawla while hearing the Board's appeal against the order.

"It is not uncommon for the graves to be shifted when they cause any obstruction in development activity," observed the court.

The court further asked the appellant, represented by senior advocate SanjoyGhose and lawyer WajeehShafiq, to argue and seek the relief in relation to their case before the single judge himself.

The Delhi Waqf Board had moved the high court earlier this year following the constitution of a two-member committee by the Centre to consider the de-listing of 123 Waqf properties even after a report was submitted by a one-member committee on the same issue in 2017.

Before the single judge, the Delhi Waqf Board had contended that once its properties have been de-listed in 2014 under the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013, there is no provision under the law for recalling the order of withdrawal from acquisition.

The petition had further said the two-member committee is the second such committee appointed by the Centre to re-examine the status of the 123 properties after the one-member committee was formed and emphasised that in the meantime, the Centre transferred one of them in favour of the Indo Tibetan Border Police.

The whole malafide purpose of appointment of Committee after Committee is to maintain confusion in respect of the title of the petitioner with regard to these waqf properties Taking advantage of this, the Union of India has transferred a portion of Waqf land comprised in Khasra no. 484, QadeemiQabistan, Village South Interpart, Mathura Road-the waqf property mentioned at serial no. 8 of the first list of de-notified waqf properties-to 'Indo Tibetan Border Police', the petition had contended.

Auto, taxi unions in Delhi on strike to demand CNG subsidy, fare hike

NEW DELHI: Various auto-rickshaw, cab and taxi unions in the national capital went on a strike on Monday, demanding a CNG subsidy and a fare revision in the wake of rising fuel prices.

Delhi Auto Rickshaw Sangh General Secretary Rajendra Soni said they will also hold a protest outside Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's residence in Civil Lines later in the day to press their demands. Commuters in the city faced difficulties in getting cabs and autos on Monday morning. Though cars were available on Ola and Uber apps, the fares were inflated. Auto and cab drivers' unions have been demanding a hike in fare and slashing of CNG prices to offset the impact of rising fuel prices.

They refused to call their strike off despite an announcement by the Delhi government to form a committee to consider a fare revision in a time-bound manner. "Our strike has started and it will continue throughout the day. CNG has become costlier and we cannot keep running our business on losses. We should either be provided a subsidy of Rs 35 per kg on CNG or fare should be hiked," Delhi Auto Rickshaw Sangh General Secretary Rajendra Soni told PTI. While most unions said they will be on a one-day strike, the Sarvodaya Driver Association Delhi, which has members who drive for cab aggregators, said it will be an "indefinite" strike. There are over 90,000 autos and more than 80,000 registered taxis complementing the public transport system in the city. AGENCIES cussed the availability of coal to power plants and the current power demands because the temperature has gone up early this year in April itself.

This move came after in the wake of many states have reported about the low stocks of coal with the thermal powers, the officials, aware of this development said.

As many as 12 states such as Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Gujarat, Punjab, Jharkhand and Haryana which are facing nominal power cuts now a days because of less coal supply.

The thermal power companies are facing shortage of low ash coal because of the ongoing Russia-Ukraine war as they were unable to get coal loads from Russia.

It was learnt that the Railways Minister has been directed to rush coal loads to the thermal power plants whose coal stocks are on minimum level.

Meanwhile, it was also learnt that the government is mulling to explore the possibility of cheap coal from other countries to meet the shortage that arose after the Russia Ukraine war. Earlier in October last year, a similar meeting was also held to meet out the coal shortage in the country.

During the meeting, Cabinet Secretary Rajiv Gauba, CMD of Naveli Lignite Corporation, and higher officials of the Coal Ministry were also present.

Union Minister for Information & Broadcasting and Youth Affairs & Sports, Anurag Thakur inaugurated the 40th edition of the 'Hunar Haat' in the presence of Union Minority Affairs Minister Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi, in Mumbai today.

The 40th edition of Hunar Haat, a credible platform to promote 'Swadeshi' products, is being held at MMRDA Ground, Bandra-Kurla Complex in Mumbai from 16th to 27th April, 2022.

Speaking on the occasion, Thakur said "Aatmanirbhar Bharat is being strengthened by initiatives like Hunar Haat. In this 40th edition of Hunar Haat, more than a thousand craftsmen and artisans coming from 31 states have put up 400 stalls."

"There is no lack of talent in India," he said recalling how India responded to PM's clarion call for building an Aatma Nirbhar Bharat during the hours of crisis. "We started producing PPE Kits, masks and even ventilators."

The Minister also spoke about 'One District One Product', where each district is recognised for one product. He said this initiative not only allowed people to generate their own income, but also created job opportunities for a few others in the vicinity when economies across the world were affected by the Pandemic.

Thakur highlighted the steps taken by the PM in promoting Skill India. "Skill training is provided so that you do not become job-seekers, instead become job-givers." He mentioned that our culture and educational structure had not focused much on the pride of labour. "PM Modi has stressed a lot on 'Dignity of Labour,'" he said.

Thakur also informed about 'Tejas' a skilling programme which has been launched by Govt. of India. Under this initiative India will send skilled manpower to UAE. "Within a year, 30,000 skilled job-seekers will be sent to UAE," he informed.

The Minister suggested that Ministry of Minority Affairs can tie up with the universities, colleges and schools so that students can be brought to the Expo and given demonstration about how 'Best from Waste' can be created. He also urged the Minority Affairs Ministry to examine feasibility of conducting short term Skill training courses concurrently in the future edition of Hunar Haats planned across the country.

Thakur urged mediapersons to focus on various stalls put up at the 40th Hunar Haat, so that their information reaches the public and their products receive the right recognition.

Assam Govt to approach SC for Aadhaar to NRC applicants

Assam Government will file an Interlocutory Application in Supreme Court for providing Aadhaar cards to National Register of Citizens (NRC) applicants whose biometrics have been locked in the updating process of the citizenship document.

The decision was taken at a Cabinet meeting, chaired by Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, here on Wednesday evening.

Later Sarma tweeted: Approval to filing of an IA (Interlocutory Application) in the Supreme Court for relaxation of Para 9 of the SOP and for providing Aadhaar cards to NRC applicants whose Aadhaar cards are kept on hold because of existing SOP.

This, he said, will benefit a large section of people below poverty line, students, pensioners, job seekers who do not have Aadhaar cards.

Over 27 lakh NRC applicants in the state had submitted their biometrics during the claims and objections phase for updating the state's NRC. Of these 19 lakh names were not included in the final draft of the NRC published on August 31, 2019, and these people are now facing problems in generating Aadhaar as their biometrics have been locked due to a Supreme Court directive.

The apex court is overseeing the NRC updating process.

The state government had said in the Assembly last month that it has written at least twice to the Centre in the last two years requesting them to allow the Aadhaar card issuing authority to access the biometrics of at least those people whose names had figured in the NRC final draft.

During the meeting a cabinet sub-committee was formed to discuss the way forward with different organisations by the state government and the meeting approved was given to the proposed Assam State Bridge Infrastructure Project (ASBIP) at an estimated cost of Rs 4,360 crore.

ASBIP will encompass 1,085 minor and major maintenance of bridges, capacity expansion of bridges, conversion of timber bridges to RCC bridges among others.

Approval was also given to Chief Minister's Scheme for Public Emergency under which monetary assistance to individuals or organisations can be given where budget allocation is not adequate or available.

Petrol price touches Rs 123/litre in Rajasthan's Sri Ganganagar

JAIPUR: Petrol prices in Rajasthan's Sri Ganganagar district rose to Rs 123 per litre on Monday morning, making it the costliest in the country.

The unprecedented hike has impacted over 80 per cent of petrol pumps bringing them on the verge of closure, confirmed petrol pump owners. In fact, the price of diesel here is Rs 105.31 per litre, which yet remains one of the highest prices in India. However, in the neighbouring state of Punjab, petrol and diesel are cheaper by Rs 17 and Rs 11 per litre respectively. Petrol consumers from Rajasthan can be seen making beeline at filling stations of Punjab, while those in Sri Ganganagar have very limited consumers.

In fact, 80 per cent of petrol pumps are on the verge of closure as an impact of this huge difference in fuel costs, said Sri Ganganagar District Petrol Pump Dealers Association District President Ashutosh Gupta. "Our district is selling the country's costliest petrol. The reason being the depot from this district is over 500 km away and hence one needs to be commute for around 1, 100 km which adds extra cost and hence comes this highest price," he added.

JALANDHAR: Mahila Kisan Union President Bibi Rajwinder Kaur Raju strongly welcomed the Supreme Court's decision for cancelling bail of main accused Ashish Mishra in the Lakhimpur Kheri (UP) case and said the ruling right-wing party, who allegedly exerted political influence to save its Union Minister Ajay Mishra Teni vis-a-vis to secure the bail of his accused son, has failed miserably keeping in view the SC verdict due to which the victim families and witnesses could have faith for justice.

provocation by BJP leaders.

GST : GoM yet to take a view on rate rationalization

NEW DELHI: A group comprising ministers from states is yet to finalise a report on rationalisation of GST rates and a decision will be taken in due course, sources said.

"People have put their faith in these disgraced, dishonourable actors who have sold their soul and ethics to make money at the cost of minds of innocent youth who emulate them and get adversely influenced and initiated to tobacco consumption," he added.

Bachchan is the recipient of the Padma Vibhushan award, while Khan, Devgn and Akshay Kumar have been awarded the Padmashri award, the country's fourth highest civilian honour.

Niti Aayog releases draft battery swapping policy

NEW DELHI: Government think tank Niti Aayog on Thursday released a draft battery swapping policy under which all metropolitan cities with a population above 40 lakh will be prioritised for development of battery swapping network under the first phase.

The Aayog in its draft policy further said all major cities such as state capitals, UT headquarters and cities with population above 5 lakh will be covered under the second phase, given the importance of the two-wheeler and three-wheeler vehicle segments in growing cities.

According to the draft policy, vehicles with swappable batteries will be sold without a battery, providing the benefit of lower purchase costs to potential EV owners. It said any individual or entity is free to set up a battery swapping station at any location, provided that the specified technical, safety and performance standards are adhered to.

Considering the constraint of space in urban areas for setting up charging stations at scale, Finance Minister in her Budget speech 2022-23 had announced that the Centre would be introducing a battery swapping policy and interoperability standards in the EV ecosystem.

According to an official statement, in this regard, Niti Aayog held an inter-ministerial discussion to formulate a robust and comprehensive battery swapping policy framework in February 2022. It also held an extensive pre-draft stakeholder discussion with a wide spectrum of stakeholders representing battery swapping operators, battery manufacturers, vehicle OEMs, financial institutions, think tanks and other experts. The draft is up for consultation, and Niti Aayog has invited comments on it until June 5.

Congress in its existential crisis is not good for democracy

Congress has been consistently decimated after every election. When the BJP under Narendra Modi and Amit Shah swept power at the Centre in 2014, the Congress ruled in nine states. Now with the loss of Punjab, the number of States where it is in power of its own is down to just two. In the last eight years since 2014, the Congress has won just five of the 45 elections held in the country.

The most ironic is its fading in Punjab where it looked all set to win, less than a year ago. Call it infighting or mishandling by party high command, it lost badly and its Chief Ministerial candidate Charanjit Singh Channi who contested from two seats, lost from both.

The PCC President Navjot Singh Sidhu too lost. Similarly in Uttarakhand, it was hopeful for a victory but the party lost with its former Chief Minister, Harish Rawat losing elections from Lalkuan. From Uttar Pradesh where party leader, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra contested on the slogan of "ladki hun, lad sakti hun" and crisscrossed the entire state and from Goa and Manipur there was no consolation for the party. It is becoming increasingly clear that Nehrus and Gandhis seem to have entirely lost to charisma to pull in votes but just targets for dynastic whipping.

The rout of the Congress does not bode good for the party and for a healthy democracy which needs a strong opposition because the recent elections were fought on the premise of a "semi-final" for the 2024 parliamentary election. The results of the latest round of assembly elections show that the BJP is well placed to win again in 2024. There now remains no doubt that come 2024 and it would pit the BJP not against the Congress but a coalition of regional parties, may be sans Congress. The Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh elections, later this year, the Karnataka election in mid-2023, and polls in in Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Mizoram in November and Rajasthan in December the same year, could well decide the party's future. Its hope of wresting back Himachal Pradesh from the BJP later this year in the absence of six time chief minister, Virbhadra Singh, who died last year, stands little slim chance. In the two states it still rules, Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh which go to the polls next year, there is huge infighting. It is a grim reminder for the grand old party to reform or else by the 2024 General Election, it may be in power in no state at all. Democracy needs a strong Opposition to hold the government to account. Indeed regional parties are gearing up and so is Aam Aadmi Party but a motley collection of parties each eyeing the Prime Ministership, does not suit the best interests of a vibrant democracy. Less than a decade old AAP is the only political party other than the BJP and the Congress that is in power in two States and it has to be an important constituent of the political grouping that comes together to take on the BJP in 2024.

It is time for the Congress to act fast to check the existential crisis and set its house in order by ending adhocism. For instance, after Rahul Gandhi's resignation as president in 2019, Sonia Gandhi has been interim president and she still continues as such. Notwithstanding the complete rout in five states, the Congress still has around over 692 MLAs in the country, compared to BJP's 1,373 which confirms that everything is still not lost but Congress has to resurrect in the best interests of democracy.

West Bengal best under MGNREGA but awaits Rs 2786 crore

West Bengal has become the best performing State both in terms of allotting jobs and utilising funds under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA). However, when it comes to receipt of funds, it has yet not received Rs 2786 crore amount due from the Centre.

"Under @MamataOfficial's exemplary leadership, Bengal ranked first among all States in 'Total Persons Worked' (Employed) in MGNREGA (2021-22). Bengal Govt. gave work to nearly 1.1 Cr people through MGNREGA! This is the #BengalModel that @narendramodi ji could only dream of!" it tweeted.

"Bengal ranked 2nd among all States in Person-Days-Generated (2021-22), having generated 36.4 Cr of person days. Rs 2,876 Cr is PENDING from the Central Govt upto March 31st, 2022. We're still awaiting payment and wondering if the Govt spends more time sleeping or spewing venom!" the party said in another Twitter post.

According to statistics recently provided in Rajya Sabha by the Minister of State for Rural Development Ram Kripal Yadav, West Bengal generated more than 28.21 crore work days under the scheme so far and spent more than Rs 7,335.31 crore for it.

The Minister was replying to a question from Trinamool Congress MP Manas Ranjan Bhunia. He also said that Tamil Nadu occupied the second spot with 22.17 crore work days and spent Rs 5,981.75 crore. Andhra Pradesh was third with 18.16 crore work days, and funds worth Rs 5054.17 crore.

BJP ruled states slacken

Bhunias pointed out that the performance of BJP-ruled States such as Goa, Gujarat and Uttar Pradesh was "not impressive." Goa is ranked at the bottom of the list with 94,000 work days and spent funds worth Rs 2.47 crore. Gujarat generated 2.93 crore work days and spent funds worth Rs 793.50 crore, while Uttar Pradesh generated 15.6 crore work days and utilised funds worth Rs 3701.54 crore.

BENGAL RANKED 2ND AMONG ALL STATES IN PERSON-DAYS-GENERATED (2021-22), HAVING GENERATED 36.4 CR OF PERSON DAYS. RS 2,876 CR IS PENDING FROM THE CENTRAL GOVT UPTO MARCH 31ST, 2022. WE'RE STILL AWAITING PAYMENT AND WONDERING IF THE GOVT SPENDS MORE TIME SLEEPING OR SPEWING VENOM!

TMC in protest mode

West Bengal's ruling party Trinamool Congress will start a massive agitation against the Union government on the issues of MGNREGA and GST dues and BSF excesses in the border areas of the state. Soon after the upcoming by polls for one Lok Sabha and one Assembly constituency, the party would launch these protests. The by polls in West Bengal will be conducted on April 12, and the results will be announced on April 16.

Besides, the Trinamool Congress leadership will also contact the chief ministers of non-BJP ruled states and urge them to be a part of a joint nationwide movement on the issues.

Political observers feel that this initiative is prompted by Banerjee's long-term plan to ensure that her party plays a key role in forging a unity of the anti-BJP forces in the country.

Wondering whether the Centre spends more time "sleeping or spewing venom", Trinamool Congress has claimed that West Bengal was yet to receive MGNREGA dues amounting to Rs 2,786 crore from the BJP-led Union government.

The party, quoting a list recently issued by the Centre, said that the eastern state has topped the chart in providing employment under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), giving work to 1.1 crore people in 2021-22, and has come second in generating mandays under the scheme.

If you love reading books you're the best

I have been very fond of books and magazines since my childhood days. Be it in my city or in any other city, even today the most favourite places of mine are bookstores, magazine stalls and libraries. Magazines are gradually disappearing from the stalls, but books are everywhere, from book shops to airports and your mobile phones. Reading e-books has its own benefits. They are easy to carry and do not require any space. From the very beginning, there was an inclination to buy books, so a small library has been developed in the house. The places of living kept on changing when I was working for the newspaper houses, but the stock of books kept traveling together. As soon as I get free time from the busy work schedule, I feel like picking up a book and start reading. Books transport you to another world. Last year, I had to stay in the hospital for a long duration, where my favorite books stayed with me. With this, positive, creative and happy thoughts kept coming in my mind. When doctors and nurses saw me reading a book, they used to leave with a smile and give good compliments.

Vani, a well-known journalist and author, whose second novel - 'Seconds Letter' is in news these days, says that «She cannot even imagine a home without books. Reading books gives motivation to write, and books introduce her to the experiences of other writers. During the last two years, when everyone was forced to stay indoors, it didn't make much difference to the book lovers. They were happy to get a lot of free time to sit comfortably and finish their favourite books, which was not possible earlier." These days Vani is busy writing a self-help book for women. As food lovers feel good in a sweets shop, the book lovers get satisfaction in a bookstore. One day I said to the owner of the English Book Shop that you are fortunate to be surrounded by so many books; you can read any new book you want.» Can you imagine what his answer was, he said, «I have studied only till 10th standard. That's why I cannot read all the books but I can smell and tell which book will sell more.» There are people like him also.

If someone asks what are the benefits of reading books, people will tell you different benefits. I believe that the biggest advantage of reading books is that you can live many lives in one life. Different authors must have poured many years of experience in their books, the benefit of which you can get within a few hours only. For those who want to improve their language, learn new words, then reading is a good way out. Reading has great benefits for your mental health. Reading is like an exercise to the brain. While reading a story, your mind can indulge in imaginations. Reading is fun. That's why many movies and TV shows are based on books. Reading increases concentration and introduces new words. The more words one knows, the more intelligent that person is. If you make a habit of reading a book before going to bed, you will definitely get a good sleep.

Essays plucked out of real life Situations & Experiences

HUMRA QURAISHI

What strikes almost immediately about the New Delhi based German writer Roswitha Joshi is her spontaneity and that grit to be frank and outspoken and straightforward. Perhaps, a rarity in the times we are destined to be living in. And that's why these qualities do leave a definite impression.

Needless for me to focus on the fact that her writings do carry those imprints to her personality. Writ large it gets, as one reads her novels, short stories, verse and those long and short essays.

In fact, I'm just back from the launch of her latest book of essays and verse, titled, Spaced Out- A Cross-Cultural Cocktail. Before I focus on the book, I must say that it was one of those best launches I have attended in these recent months. Hosted by the Austrian ambassador to India, Katharina Wieser, at the Austrian Embassy, there were none of the formal speeches but a lovely informal launch followed by lots to eat and talk about! Getting back to

I have been particularly impressed with her essays which seem to be plucked out of real life situations and experiences. Not to be overlooked the fact that Roswitha has been a witness to a whole range of situations, with definite backgrounders to them carries an entire range. Much in keeping with the very title, it carries tragedies as well as comedies, intense grief-stricken situations as well as those along the lighter-brighter side to everyday life.

I have been particularly impressed with her essays which seem to be plucked out of real life situations and experiences. Not to be overlooked the fact that Roswitha has been a witness to a whole range of situations, with definite backgrounders to them. She was born and brought up in Hamburg. And its during her studies of Political Science and History at the Hamburg University, she met and tied the knot with a doctoral candidate from India. And with that she moved to India, settling down here with her husband, raising their two children. She'd earlier worked at the German Embassy here in New Delhi, but then took to full-time writing.

What's kept her going strong amidst the various situations and challenges is her determination to carry on. Living her "own adventure story" with "humour, wit, and grit as survival tools."

Grasim's caustic soda unit inaugurated in AP

AMARAVATI: Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy, along with Aditya Birla Group Chairman Kumaramangalam Birla, on Thursday inaugurated Grasim Industries Limited's caustic soda manufacturing unit at Balabhadrapuram in East Godavari district.

The Chief Minister, in the company of Birla, went round the plant and inspected various aspects of its design and safety features.

The unit would reach a production capacity of 1,600 tonnes per day in three phases, entailing a total investment of Rs 2,700 crore. The project would provide direct employment to 1,300 people and indirect employment to another 1,150, Birla said on the occasion. He said 75 per cent of the jobs would be given to the locals in accordance with the state law.

Grasim Industries acquired an ailing caustic soda manufacturing unit from KPR Industries in 2019 as part of its plans to expand its Chlor-Alkali business. Grasim currently has a 29 per cent capacity share in caustic soda manufacturing in the country.

The Aditya Birla Group Chairman said Grasim completely revised the design of the Balabhadrapuram plant, incorporating a combined water treatment-cum-effluent treatment and recycling plant with Zero Liquid Discharge facility.

This would ensure no liquid went out of the site, leaving no possibility of contamination of ground water. Also, modern Electrostatic Precipitators for dust absorption and elaborate scrubbing system for exhaust gases have been put in place and connected to the Central Pollution Control Board's on-line monitoring system.

A three-layer safety design has also been put in place, along with a state-of-the-art command and control centre to manage emergencies.

On the occasion, the Chief Minister announced that cases filed against people who protested against the setting up of the plant would be withdrawn and Government Order to the effect issued. AGENCIES

Government to take call on LIC IPO timing this week

NEW DELHI: Union government is likely to take a call on the timing of LIC initial public offering within this week, a senior official said.

The sale of 5% stake or 31.6 crore shares in the country's largest insurer was originally planned for in March, but was postponed in view of the geopolitical tension.

The government has time till May 12 to launch the IPO without filing fresh papers with markets regulator SEBI.

The official said it would be a tough call to decide whether to go ahead with the retail and domestic investor demand or to wait for geopolitical tension to ease and FIIs to return to market. A decision on timing the IPO would be taken this week, LIC's embedded value, which is a measure of the consolidated shareholders' value in an insurance company, was pegged at about 2-3 times its embedded value. The official said that for a company of the magnitude of LIC, such high multiplier to embedded value may not be correct. The official further said the IPO price would have to be fixed in a way that on the listing day there is an upside to the stock and investors get rewarded.

LIC is already a matured company and has seen business growth since its inception. The market valuation would have to be done keeping in mind its growth potential here-on, the official added. If the IPO is not launched now then it would have to be deferred till August or September since fresh papers with updated quarterly results and valuations would have to be filed with SEBI.

If the government decides to go ahead with the initial public offering by May 12 then the life insurer will have to file the red herring prospectus with SEBI by next week.

The official also said that under the present market condition the government is unlikely to offload more than 5 per cent stake in the life insurance behemoth. When we are already facing headwinds, we cannot test waters with higher IPO size. The finance ministry did not respond to the e-mail seeking comments for the story. AGENCIES

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman for regulating crypto at global level to check money laundering, terror funding

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Tuesday made a strong case for regulating cryptocurrencies at a global level to mitigate the risk of money laundering and terror funding.

Participating at a high-level panel discussion organised by the IMF, the Finance Minister said that as long as the non-governmental activity of the crypto assets was through unhosted wallets, the regulation was going to be very difficult.

However, she said, cross border payments between countries will become very effective through Central Bank-driven digital currencies.

"The risk which worries me more on the non-governmental domain is essentially you're looking at unhosted wallets across the borders, across the globe... So, regulation cannot be done by a single country within its terrain through some effective method and for doing it across the borders, technology doesn't have a solution which will be acceptable to various

"I harp on that very much because I think the biggest risk for all countries across the board will be on the money laundering aspect, and also on the aspect of currency being used for financing terror," she said.

With regard to taxing income generated from transactions in crypto assets, Sitharaman said it is a means to check the source and trail but not to legitimise them.

"We haven't said that this is currency. We haven't said that this has intrinsic value, but certain operations are taxable for the sovereign and that is why we have taxed," she said.

Budget 2022-23 proposed a 30 per cent tax on income from transactions in crypto assets and also imposed a 1 per cent TDS (tax deducted at source) on transactions in such asset classes above a certain threshold.

"We did announce that on the income that was generated out of the transactions of these crypto assets will be taxed at 30 per cent and over and above that, there is a 1 per cent tax deduction at source which is also imposed on every transaction. So through that we will be able to know who's buying and who's selling it," she said.

On the Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC), she said, it is going to happen sometime this year. RBI is planning to come out with a central bank-backed digital currency using blockchain technology in 2022-23. AGENCIES

HDFC Bank shares decline nearly 4 pc

NEW DELHI: Shares of HDFC Bank on Monday fell nearly 4 per cent even after the leading private sector lender reported a 23 per cent jump in standalone net profit for the March quarter. The stock declined 3.63 per cent to Rs 1,411.65 on the BSE. On the NSE, it went lower by 3.66 per cent to Rs 1,411.30.

SBI hikes lending rate by 0.1%, EMIs to go up

NEW DELHI: The country's largest lender State Bank of India (SBI) has raised its marginal cost of funds based lending rate (MCLR) by 10 basis points (bps) or 0.1% across all tenures, a move that will lead to an increase in EMIs for borrowers.

The lending rate revision by SBI is likely to be followed by other banks in the days to come. With the increase, EMIs will go up for those borrowers who have availed loans on MCLR, not for those, whose loans are linked to other benchmarks. SBI's EBLR rate is 6.65%, while the repo-linked lending rate (RLLR) is 6.25 effective April 1.

Banks add Credit Risk Premium (CRP) over the EBLR and RLLR while giving any kind of loan including housing and auto loans. The revised MCLR rate is effective from April 15, as per the information posted on SBI website.

With the revision, one-year MCLR has increased to 7.10%, from the earlier 7%.

An overnight, one-month and three-month MCLR rose by 10 bps to 6.75%, whereas a six-month MCLR increased to 7.05%.

Most of the loans are linked to the one-year MCLR rate.

At the same time, two-year MCLR increased by 0.1% to 7.30%, while three-year MCLR rose to 7.40%.

From October 1, 2019, all banks including SBI have to lend only at an interest rate linked to an external benchmark such as RBI's repo rate or Treasury Bill yield. As a result, monetary policy transmission by banks has gained traction.

The impact of the introduction of external benchmark-based pricing of loans on monetary transmission has been felt across various sectors, encompassing even those sectors that are not directly linked to external benchmark-based loan pricing.

"Looking ahead, the proportion of loans linked to external benchmarks is expected to increase further along with a commensurate fall in the internal benchmark linked loans. Coupled with shorter reset periods, monetary transmission to banks' interest rates can, thus, be expected to strengthen further, a recently released article by RBI said. AGENCIES

Govt measures expected to push MSME's growth in 2022: ASSOCHAM-CRISIL study

NEW DELHI: Lauding the large part played by the MSMEs (Medium, Small, and Micro Enterprises) in India's economic rebound, the latest ASSOCHAM-CRISIL joint study adds that the sector is expected to achieve mid-teen growth in fiscal 2022 with the pick-up of economic activities.

The report, titled, 'MSMEs back to the grind', is jointly conducted by the Associated Chambers of Commerce and Industry of India (ASSOCHAM) with CRISIL. "Amidst the global pandemic, India has found its innate strength to brave the storm and focus on developing its domestic ecosystem, to support both the Indian and the global markets. The Aatmanirbhar Bharat vision that has been laid by the Hon'ble Prime Minister has enthused the Indian industry with confidence that will help us enhance our global play," says Mr Deepak Sood, Secretary General, ASSOCHAM. Considered to be the engine of economies around the world, the MSME segment in India alone is estimated to have 6.3 crore units, which employs over 11.10 crore people. The sector accounts for 27% of GDP and is crucial to the functioning of the economy, including in terms of employment generation, exports, and lending opportunities. The sector was the worst hit during the COVID-19 pandemic and the lockdown that followed in 2020.

Crediting MSMEs for putting the country on the firm path of economic recovery in 2022 after having had it tough in 2021, Bhushan Parekh, Director, CRISIL SME Solution, elaborated in the report, "A raft of measures by the government under its Aatmanirbhar Bharat banner has provided relief to MSME segment in recent months. These include Rs 20,000 crore subordinate debt for stressed MSMEs, Rs 50,000 crore equity infusion through MSME Fund of Funds (SRI Fund), 3-lakh crore Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) for businesses, including MSMEs (which was subsequently increased to Rs 5-lakh crore in Union Budget 2022-23), change in definition of what constitutes an MSME, and no global tenders for government procurement up to Rs 200 crore."

The report also notes that if MSME lending by banking and non-banking finance companies (NBFCs) in fiscal 2021 rose to 7% on-year, then the credit is expected to grow by 7-9% (around Rs 18-lakh crore) on-year in fiscal 2022 supported by favourable government measures as well as rise in demand. AGENCIES

World Bank President Malpass welcomes India's move of selling oil from its stockpiles

World Bank President David Malpass has welcomed India's move to begin selling oil from its stockpiles, asserting that the world needs to take important steps to address the current set of crises.

Speaking on the sidelines of the annual Spring meeting of the IMF and the World Bank held here, Malpass told reporters that allowing more trade and opening of markets were "very important" steps.

"I was intrigued to see and welcomed India's moves yesterday and today to begin to sell from its stockpiles. I think market opening steps by many of the advanced economies could add a lot to the global supplies and alleviate some of the impact on the poor countries, he said on Wednesday.

"And they themselves need to build up their systems to produce more. One of the drawbacks is that, in recent years, there's been a shortage of investment, especially in the developing world. We need to worse. That means more countries falling further behind, not making advancements, and not having the investment that is needed. Some of that owes to the macro policies of the advanced economies. They've been borrowing very heavily from the global capital markets, which leaves less for other countries. That can be improved, he asserted.

As central banks raise interest rates, it's important for them to use all their tools and not be undercut by the government demand stimulus. Malpass said, adding that the central banks can use tools that add to supply and that allow capital allocation to be improved.

"I think that's going to be vital. They've been talking about, not just interest rates, but also shrinking the balance sheet, which I think would have a stimulative effect on the global investment climate, because it would couple less of the capital at the central banks from the current situation. AGENCIES

CBI now part of Interpol's anti-child abuse database

NEW DELHI: Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has joined the international child sexual exploitation database of Interpol, a move which will bolster its fight against sex abuse of minors and help in identification of victims and abusers using sophisticated analytics software, officials said.

Sources in the agency said the CBI recently joined a select group of agencies of 67 countries that are connected to the database.

Interpol database on paedophiles and disseminators of child sexual abuse material (CSAM) on the internet relies on multi-media from various countries which are analysed based on a specialised "image comparison software" to identify the victim and the accused from photos and videos, they said.

Once the national central bureau of a country, the CBI in the case of India, gets that information they proceed against them according to local laws.

The Interpol mechanism takes help from financial institutions, internet service providers and software developers, besides cross-sector partners, in tracking CSAM and shutting down illegal distribution channels.

The database with over 2.7 million images and videos on an average helps in the identification of seven abuse victims across globe every day with over 27,000 victims and over 12,000 abusers identified so far, the Interpol website states.

The tool not only helps sharing of information among various investigation officers but also avoids "duplication of effort and saves precious time" as it tells the investigators if the images have already been identified in another country.

The CBI had last year cracked a major network of paedophiles and distributors of CSAM who were selling the illicit content on social media for just Rs 10 for 60 videos with payments received through Paytm. AGENCIES

Union Minister for Finance & Corporate Affairs Nirmala Sitharaman had a bilateral meeting with Kristalina Georgieva, Managing Director, International Monetary Fund (IMF), on the sidelines of the International Monetary Fund-World Bank (IMF-WB) Spring Meetings in Washington D.C. today.

Both, the Finance Minister and the Managing Director, were accompanied by senior officials like Anantha V. Nageswaran, Chief Economic Advisor, Ministry of Finance, Government of India, and Ms Gita Gopinath, FDMO of IMF.

During the meeting, they discussed issues of importance for India besides several issues currently being faced by the global and the regional economies.

Georgieva highlighted the resilience of India which remains the fastest-growing country across the globe despite challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. Georgieva also referred to an effective policy mix followed by India that was well targeted. She lauded India for its contribution to the capacity development activities of the IMF.

Georgieva praised India's vaccination programme and the help extended to its neighbour and other vulnerable economies. The IMF MD particularly brought reference to the help India is providing to Sri Lanka during their difficult economic crisis. Sitharaman indicated that IMF should support and urgently provide financial assistance to Sri Lanka. The Managing Director assured the Finance Minister that the IMF would continue to actively engage with Sri Lanka.

Discussing the recent geopolitical developments, Sitharaman and Georgieva raised concerns about its impact on global economy and the challenges linked to the rising energy prices due to it.

Explaining India's policy approach, Sitharaman mentioned that an accommodative fiscal stance was also accompanied by major structural reforms, including the bankruptcy code and targeted help to MSME and other vulnerable sections.

Sitharaman said that Monetary Authority fully supported and complemented these efforts with an accommodative stance.

The Finance Minister further stated that India has been helped by good agricultural output, supported by a good monsoon during the COVID pandemic period. Agricultural exports, along with other exports, have also sharply increased. Russia launches fight for industrial heartland says Ukrainian officials

After days of regrouping and reinforcing, the Russian military began a new and potentially climactic phase of the war in Ukraine by launching its long-feared, full-scale ground offensive to take control of the country's industrial heartland, the Donbas, Ukrainian officials said. The stepped-up assaults began Monday along a broad front of over 300 miles (480 kilometers), Ukrainian officials said. The Russian troops have begun the battle for the Donbas, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy announced in a video address. He said a significant part of the entire Russian army is now concentrated on this offensive.

Moscow-backed separatists have been fighting Ukrainian forces for eight years in the mostly Russian-speaking Donbas and have declared two independent republics that have been recognized by Russia. Russia has declared the capture of the Donbas to be its main goal in the war since its attempt to seize the capital, Kyiv, failed. No matter how many Russian troops are driven there, we will fight, Zelenskyy vowed. We will defend ourselves. Before the offensive got underway, Russia

Govt of India bound by assurance given to Portugal on Abu Salem: Union home secy

The Government is bound by the assurance given by the then deputy Prime Minister L K Advani to the Portugal government that the maximum sentence handed out to gangster Abu Salem will not exceed 25 years, the Union home secretary has told the Supreme Court.

In an affidavit filed in pursuance to the apex court's April 12 order, Union Home Secretary Ajay Kumar Bhalla said the assurance would come into effect once the period of 25 years expires on November 10, 2030.

"It is respectfully submitted that the Government of India is bound by the assurance dated December 17, 2002. The period of 25 years, which is mentioned in the assurance, will be abided by the Union of India at an appropriate time subject to the remedies which may be available, the affidavit said. The home secretary submitted that Salem's contention about non-compliance of assurance is premature and based on hypothetical surmises and can never be raised in present proceedings.

He also stated in his affidavit that judiciary is independent in deciding all cases including criminal cases in accordance with the applicable laws without in any way being bound by any position taken by the executive. The matter is listed for hearing before a bench of Justices S K Kaul and M M Sundresh on April 21. The top court had earlier asked the Centre to make its stand clear on the issue.

It had said that the stand on the commitment made by the Union of India would have wide ramifications the next time the country wants to bring back any fugitive.

The top court had said that it is not satisfied with the affidavit filed by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) which said that the assurance given by India to Portugal on the maximum sentence during the extradition of Salem, a convict in the 1993 Mumbai serial blast case, is not binding on Indian courts.

On February 2, the top court had sought a response from the Centre on a plea filed by Salem, serving life imprisonment for his role in the 1993 Mumbai serial blasts case, contending that his imprisonment cannot extend beyond 25 years as per the terms of the extradition treaty between India and Portugal. It had granted four weeks to the Centre to respond on a plea by Salem claiming that the 2017 judgement of TADA court sentencing him to life imprisonment was against the terms of the extradition treaty.

Salem had contended that life imprisonment awarded to Salem is against the assurance given by the Indian government to Portugal from where he was extradited.

His plea said, "Even despite the categorical assurances by the Government of India that the appellant will not be sentenced for more than 25 years which assurances formed part of judicial proceedings right till the Supreme Court of Portugal and upon which the extradition order was passed, there was a complete and gross violation by the TADA Court when it imposed sentences of life imprisonment for certain offences." AGENCIES

China's economy grows still-weak 4.8% in January-March

China's economic growth edged up to a still-weak 4.8 per cent over a year ago in the first three months of 2022 as spreading coronavirus outbreaks prompted the shutdown of major industrial cities.

Growth crept up from the previous quarter's 4 per cent following a slump triggered by tighter government controls on use of debt by China's vast real estate industry, official data showed Monday. Compared with the previous quarter, as other major economies are measured, growth declined to 1.3 per cent from 1.4 per cent.

First quarter growth was well below the ruling Communist Party's official target of 5.5 per cent for the year. Forecasters have said that will be hard to meet without more government stimulus spending. Retail spending, factory output and investment in factories, real estate and other fixed assets rose.

The national economic recovery was sustained and the operation of the economy was generally stable, said a government statement. Authorities have suspended access to Shanghai and some other industrial cities to contain virus outbreaks under the ruling party's zero-COVID strategy to isolate every infected person. Global automakers and other manufacturers have stopped or reduced production due to supply disruptions.

The ruling party already was promising tax refunds to businesses to reverse the slump that began in mid-2021. Last week, Premier Li Keqiang, the No. 2 leader, called for quicker action to get help to struggling entrepreneurs. Retail sales rose by a modest 3.3 per cent over a year earlier after consumer demand was hurt by a government appeal for the public to avoid travelling during February's Lunar New Year holiday, normally a time for gift-giving and banquets. AGENCIES

In a veiled attack, Imran blames Pak Army Chief for his ouster

LAHORE: In a veiled attack on Pakistan's Army Chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa, former prime minister Imran Khan has alleged that "some elements" in the powerful establishment who indulged in "bad practices" were responsible for his unceremonious ouster from power.

According to experts, Khan, who was ousted from power on April 10 after the National Assembly passed a no-confidence motion against him, had apparently lost support of the Army after he refused to endorse the appointment of the ISI spy agency chief last year. Finally, he agreed but it soured his ties with the Army.

Addressing party workers on Twitter at night, Imran said: "There are also humans in institutions. If one or two individuals do something wrong, the entire institution is not responsible. If one person (in an apparent reference to Army chief Gen. Bajwa) makes a mistake, this does not mean that the whole institution is at fault."

Former information minister Fawad Chaudhry told a news channel on Wednesday that relations between the establishment and Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) government had strained for months.

We tried our best, including myself, to remove misunderstandings with the establishment but could not succeed," he said. The Pakistan Army, which has ruled the coup-prone country for more than half of its 73 plus years of existence, has hitherto wielded considerable power in the matters of security and foreign policy.

Khan, 69, is the only Pakistani prime minister to be ousted in a no-confidence motion in Parliament. He was replaced by Shehbaz Sharif of the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz's (PML-N). He called on his supporters to reach Minar-i-Pakistan in Lahore on Thursday to make it the biggest-ever rally in the country's history.

The cricketer-turned-politician said that all institutions are not corrupt but some "elements indulge in bad practices". Khan, in the same breath, praised the Army, saying "Pakistan needs the Armed forces more than Imran Khan. Had the strong Army not been here, Pakistan might have been dismembered into three pieces." Since his ouster, there have been anti-Bajwa and anti-judges trends on social media, forcing the Army chief and the chief justice of Pakistan to condemn the smear campaign.

Both the Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) and Federal Investigation Agency launched a crackdown on PTI social media activists and arrested 15 people. Such Twitter trends could not be curbed despite the action. AGENCIES

Julia Roberts says she turned down romantic comedies for 20 years as good scripts didn't exist

Hollywood star Julia Roberts, who ruled the romantic comedy scene in the 90s, is returning to the genre after a gap of 20 years with "Ticket to Paradise" opposite George Clooney. The "Notting Hill" star said she avoided the genre for almost two decades because there were no scripts that matched the level of her famous films like "Pretty Woman" or "My Best Friend's Wedding". Other than her brief appearances in ensemble rom-com "Valentine's Day" and "Mother's Day" and romance drama "Eat Pray Love", the actor's last rom-com outing was 2001's "America's Sweethearts". Roberts, 54, told The New York Times that she was not avoiding the genre, it's just that good scripts did not come her way. People sometimes misconstrue the amount of time that's gone by that I haven't done a romantic comedy as my not wanting to do one, Roberts said. If I had read something that I thought was that Notting Hill level of writing or My Best Friend's Wedding level of mad-cap fun, I would do it. They didn't exist until this movie that I just did that Ol Parker wrote and directed. Roberts said she would have said no to "Ticket to Paradise" if it was not for Clooney, 60, her co-star in films such as "Ocean's Eleven" and "Money Monster".

She thought the film worked only with Clooney. Lo and behold, George felt it only worked with me. Somehow we were both able to do it, and off we went, Roberts said about returning to the genre. When asked by NYT if she avoided romantic comedies for 20 years because there wasn't a single good script, not one, Roberts answered, Yeah. Here's the thing: If I'd thought something was good enough, I would have done it, Roberts said. But I also had three kids in the last 18 years. That raises the bar even more because then it's not only Is this material good? It's also the math equation of my husband's work schedule and the kids' school schedule and summer vacation. It's not just, Oh, I think I want to do this. I have a sense of great pride in being home with my family and considering myself a homemaker. The actor, who is married to cinematographer Daniel Moder, said she felt a sense of responsibility with her children as they get older. As they get older, and particularly with my daughter, I do have a sense of responsibility for showing my children that I can be creative and that it's meaningful to me so meaningful that for periods of time I will choose to focus on that almost more than my family, which has been hard for me to come to terms with. AGENCIES

Virat Kohli is overcooked, needs a break : Ravi Shastri

Batting stalwart Virat Kohli is mentally "overcooked" and needs to take a break from cricket in order to serve the country for at least another six-seven years, feels ex-India coach Ravi Shastri. Kohli has been going through a lean patch with just two 40-plus scores to show in last seven innings for Royal Challengers Bangalore in the current IPL season. The 33-year-old from Delhi, who hasn't scored a century in the last 100 matches across formats, has been dropped from the T20 captaincy both for India and

RCB and also quit Test leadership, while he was removed from ODI skipper's role. Shastri feels the likes of Kohli needs to be handled with care and empathy amid the COVID-19 restrictions which has confined players inside bio-bubbles. "I am going straight to the main guy here. Virat Kohli is overcooked. If anyone needs a break, it's him," Shastri told Star Sports. "Whether it's 2 months or a month-and-a-half, whether it's after England or before England. He needs a break because he has got 6-7 years of cricket left in him and he's playing in leagues that with a fried brain." AGENCIES
