Jamaat-e-Islami Hind condemns release of those convicted in Bilkis Bano Rape Case

FW DESK

Jamaat-e-Islami Hind (JIH) has condemned the release of those convicted in the Bilkis Bano Rape Case. In a statement to the media, the Vice President of Jamaat-e-Islami Hind, Prof Salim Engineer said: "We are dismayed by the role of the Gujarat government in ensuring the release of those convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment in the Bilkis Bano gang rape case and the murder of seven members of her family. Such decisions that are aimed at reaping political dividends to appease a particular constituency are highly objectionable. We condemn the decision and hope the apex court intervenes in the matter to reverse this grave injustice carried out under the guise of official government policy."

The JIH Vice President said:

"The remission policy should be applied for those languishing in jails for petty crimes not for those who have been convicted for heinous crimes like rape and murder. If state governments are allowed to free criminals of their choice through a remission policy despite being convicted for heinous crimes, then this will make a mockery of our justice dispensation system and the citizens will lose hope in the system. Justice for all is one of the most abiding principles of our Constitution and if this trend continues then democracy will be weakened.

Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal launches 'Make India No. 1' mission

Delhi Chief Minister and Aam Aadmi Party National Convener Arvind Kejriwal on Wednesday launched 'Make India No. 1' mission to make the country lead on all parameters.

Kejriwal said: "We have to make India the number 1 nation in the world once again. We have to make India great again. We are beginning a national mission called 'Make India No. 1' today. Every citizen of this country, 130 crore people have to be connected to this mission."

"Citizens need to come together to make India great again. It has been 75 years since we got Independence and we have achieved many things, but there is an anger among citizens that many small nations that got freedom after us have moved ahead of us," said the AAP Convener.

"Why did India lag behind? Every citizen is asking this," he added, giving example that Singapore got independence 15 years after India, and that Japan and Germany were destroyed in World War II.

Kejriwal went on to say that "If we leave this to these parties and leaders, India will go back 75 more years as some of them love the family and some love their friends." He further urged BJP, Congress, and other political parties to join AAP's national mission, saying that everyone needs to come together for it.

Delhi CM said that people of India are the best people, "yet we were left behind."

"We are not short of anything, we 130 crore people will now have to come together and take over the reins of the country," he added.

While counting the parameters, he said that we have to make arrangements for good and free education for 27 crore children. "We cannot say that schools cannot be opened in hills or tribal areas.

Gadkari and Chouhan dropped from BJP parliamentary board

BJP on Wednesday dropped Union Minister Nitin Gadkari and Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan from its parliamentary board, its apex organisational body, and brought in six new members, including Karnataka leader B S Yediyurappa and Iqbal Singh Lalpura, first Sikh representative.

The party also rejigged its Central Election Committee (CEC) and named Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis and Union minister Bhubender Yadav among its new members. Gadkari and Chouhan ceased to be CEC members after their ouster from the board.

All parliamentary board members, which include Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union ministers Amit Shah and Rajnath Singh and BJP president J P Nadda, automatically become part of the CEC, which has some additional members as well.

The other new board members are K Laxman, Sudha Yadav and Satyanarayan Jatia, three old party faithfuls but considered political lightweights.

The omission of former BJP president Gadkari (65), considered close to the RSS, and Chouhan (63) marks their diminishing stock within the party which has tried to make its key organisational bodies more socially and regionally representative by inducting members of different communities, including former cop and Punjab leader Lalpura, currently the chairman of the National Commission for Minorities.

Former Union ministers Jual Oram and Shahnawaz Hussain have been dropped from the CEC. After these changes, the board now has the full strength of 11 members while the CEC has 15 leaders.

The new entrants to the CEC are Rajasthan leader Om Mathur and BJP women wing chief Vanathi Srinivasan besides Fadnis and Bhubender Yadav. Srinivasan replaces her predecessor Vijaya Rahatkar as the party's 'Mahila Morcha' chief as its ex-officio member.

With Chouhan gone, there will be no chief minister on the board. There was speculation that Uttar Pradesh CM Yogi Adityanath may make an entry. Union minister Piyush Goyal, who is also the Leader of the House in Rajya Sabha, Dharmendra Pradhan and Bhu-pender Yadav were also seen as contenders. Yadav, though, is in the CEC now. Both Yediyurappa and Jatia are over 75 years of age, an informal age bar within the party for holding important posts as it has gone all out to reduce the average age of its organisational leaders.

Yediyurappa's inclusion highlights the party's efforts to reward the Lingayat leader whose community is critical to its poll prospects in the Karnataka assembly election slated for the next year. He was replaced by Basavaraj Bommai as chief minister in 2021. Bommai met to congratulate him after the announcement.

The newly formed cabinet in Bihar expanded on Tuesday when 31 ministers took oath, with the RJD getting a lion's share, and care having been taken to represent all sections of the society, including the minorities.

Among the ministers who took oath, 16 were from RJD, 11 from Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's JD(U), two from Congress, one from ex-CM Jitan Ram Manjhi's Hindustani Awam Morcha (HAM) and one Independent.

The number of Muslims in the new cabinet is five, up from only one in the previous NDA government that fell last week after the chief minister severed ties with the BJP.

The RJD has, predictably, given a significant number of seven berths to Yadavs, including Tej Pratap Yadav, the elder son of party president Lalu Prasad.

It, however, also gave representation to the upper castes in keeping with the wider social outreach by deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav.

Among those from the RJD quota were Kartikeya Singh, a Bhumihar MLC, and Sudhakar Singh, a Rajput, whose father Jagadanand Singh is currently the state president.

The JD(U) has retained its ministers from the previous dispensation. The Congress is represented by a Dalit and a Muslim.

PM greets NCC cadets at Red Fort

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday interacted with NCC cadets dressed in traditional attire and seated in the geographical formation of the map of India in front of Red Fort's ramparts.

After his speech on the 75th anniversary of India's independence, Modi walked in the "Gyan Path" enclosure. He waved at and greeted the cadets.

The prime minister encouraged the cadets from Punjab and Gujarat to perform their folk dances -- Bhangra and Garba -- as he cheered for them. He also shook hands with some cadets, striking brief interactions.

A total of 792 NCC cadets (Army, Navy and Air Force) from different schools across the country took part in the festival of national fervour.

The cadets were seated at Gyan Path in front of the Red Fort's ramparts in the geographical formation of the map of India. They were wearing clothes of the regions they were representing, symbolising India's cultural diversity.

The August 15 ceremony is particularly significant this year as it marks the 75th anniversary of the country's independence, with the government launching a host of exercises to add to the verve around the celebrations.

Bombay HC gives nod for demolition of 100-yr-old dilapidated Mumbai building, directs occupants to vacate it

Bombay High Court has given a go ahead to the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) to demolish a century-old dilapidated building in south Mumbai and directed its occupants to vacate the premises.

The HC, in an order passed on August 11, a copy of which was made available on Monday, noted that the building 'H N Petit Widows Home' was located on a busy road and in the event of any untoward incident, it could cause loss of lives.

A division bench of Justices R D Dhanuka and Kamal Khata upheld the BMC technical advisory committee's (TAC) decision holding that the building was in a dilapidated and dangerous condition and has to be hence demolished.

Based on the committee's report, the BMC in April this year issued a letter to the building's landlord to vacate the premises.

A few occupants of the building and tenants who run shops on its ground floor, however, refused to vacate the premises and moved the HC arguing that the structure only needed minor repairs.

The ground plus five floor structure is more than 100 years old. It was used for providing hostel facilities to widows.

FIFA move extremely harsh but also an opportunity to get house in order, says Bhaichung Bhutia

Former captain Bhaichung Bhutia on Tuesday termed the FIFA's decision to ban Indian football "very harsh" but in it also saw an opportunity to get the country's sport in order.

India was suspended by world governing body FIFA for "undue influence from third parties", the development jeopardising the country's prospects of hosting the Under-17 Women's World Cup, scheduled from October 11-30.

"Very unfortunate that FIFA has banned Indian football and at the same time I feel it's a very harsh decision of FIFA to ban Indian football," Bhutia, one of the sport's icons in the country, said.

"But at the same time I feel it's a great opportunity for us to get our system right. It's very important that all the stakeholders -- the federation, the state associations, to come together and get the system right and everybody work for the betterment of Indian football," the Sikkimese sniper added.

FIFA said the suspension was effective immediately and that the transgression constitutes a serious violation of the FIFA Statutes. This is the first time the All India Football Federation (AIFF) has been banned by FIFA in its 85 year history.

UIDAI enrolls over 79 lakh children under Bal Aadhaar initiative in last four months

FW DESK

Unique Identification Authority has enrolled more than 79 lakh children in the 0-5 age group during the first four months (April-July) of the current financial year.

This is part of a renewed effort to reach out to more children in the 0-5 age group under the Bal Aadhaar initiative and help parents and children avail multiple benefits. While 2.64 crore children in the 0-5 age group had Bal Aadhaar by the end of 31 March 2022, this number has increased to 3.43 crore by the end of July 2022.

Bal Aadhaar registration is progressing very well, with increased speed across the country. Enrolments of children in the 0-5 age group in states like Himachal Pradesh and Haryana have already covered more than 70% of the targeted age group. Registration of children (0-5 age group) has also done exceedingly well in several other states and UTs including Jammu and Kashmir, Mizoram, Delhi, Andhra Pradesh and Lakshadweep. Over all, Aadhaar saturation at present is around 94%. Aadhaar saturation among adults is almost 100%. Aadhaar is now a catalyst of both, ease of living and ease of doing business. Nearly 25 lakh new voters likely to be enrolled in J&K : Election Commission

Jammu and Kashmir Chief Electoral Officer Hirdesh Kumar on Wednesday said around 25 lakh new voters are expected to be enrolled in the Union Territory as the special summary revision of electoral rolls is being held for the first time after abrogation of Article 370 in 2019.

He also described the ongoing exercise to complete the special summary revision of electoral rolls by November 25 as a "challenging task".

The massive exercise to complete the process in time is going on to ensure that all the eligible voters including those who have attained the age of 18 years on October 1, 2022 or earlier are enrolled to provide an "error-free" final list, Kumar said.

According to the rescheduled timeline issued by the election commission recently, an integrated draft electoral roll will be published on September 15, while the period for filing claims and objections was set between September 15 to October 25 followed by disposal of claims and objections on November 10.

Checking of health parameters and obtaining commission's permission for final publication and updating database and printing of supplements was fixed for November 19 before the publication of final electoral rolls on November 25. "The special summary revision of electoral rolls is taking place for the first time after January 1, 2019 and so we are expecting massive changes in the voter list given the fact that a large number of youngsters have attained the age of 18 or 18 plus over the past three years. "After the abrogation of Article 370, many people who were not enlisted as voters in the erstwhile state of J&K are now eligible to vote and in addition anyone who is living ordinarily can also avail the opportunity to get enlisted as a voter in J&K in accordance with the provisions of representation of the Peoples Act," Kumar told reporters here.

He said the projected population of J&K who are 18 plus are around 98 lakhs, while the number of enlisted voters are 76 lakh according to the last voter list. "We are expecting an addition of 20 to 25 lakh new voters in the final list," Kumar said, adding the Booth Level Officers, Electoral Registration Officers, Assistant Electoral Registration officers and District Election Officers have been sensitized to ensure that the final list will be "error free" and will also cover all the eligible voters.

Kumar said there is no need for a person to have a domicile certificate of J&K to become a voter. "An employee, a student, a labourer or anyone from outside who is living ordinarily in J&K, can enlist his or her name in the voting list. The documents will be scrutinized by the government officials concerned who will take a decision after being satisfied about the claim."

He said like in the past, many residents of J&K who are working in armed forces and paramilitary forces and

Suspected material seized from truck carrying cargo from Afghanistan at ICP Attari

There's a thin line between 'freebies' and social welfare

A general concern over 'freebies' pushing the economy to ruin or unviable pre-election promises adversely affecting informed decision-making by voters seems reasonable. The Chief Justice of India, N.V. Ramana, heading a Bench hearing a petition filed in public interest against the distribution or promise of 'freebies' ahead of elections, has made it clear that the Court is not going to issue guidelines, but only ensure that suggestions are taken from stakeholders such as the NITI Aayog, Finance Commission, Law Commission, RBI and political parties. The Court's concern over populist measures seems to resonate with the Government too, as the Solicitor-General submitted that these distorted the voter's informed decision-making; and that unregulated populism may lead to an economic disaster. The Supreme Court, in S. Subramaniam Balaji vs Govt of Tamil Nadu (2013) addressed these questions and took the position that these concerned law and policy. It upheld the distribution of television sets or consumer goods on the ground that schemes targeted at women, farmers and the poorer sections were in furtherance of Directive Principles; and as long as public funds were spent based on appropriations cleared by the legislature, they could neither be declared illegal, nor the promise of such items be termed a 'corrupt practice'. It had, however, directed the ECI to frame guidelines to regulate the content of manifestos. The ECI subsequently included in its Model Code of Conduct a stipulation that parties should avoid promises "that vitiate the purity of the election process or exert undue influence on the voters". Any further step, such as distinguishing welfare measures from populist sops and pre-election inducements, or adding to the obligations of fiscal responsibility and fiscal prudence ought to come from the legislature. That politicians invariably back 'freebies' should be no reason to bypass Parliament.

ABHIJIT SINGH DELVES INTO INDIA-US COMPREHENSIVE PARTNERSHIP IN THE INDIAN OCEAN LITTORALS

Maritime alliance a work in progress

The docking of the USNS Charles Drew, a United States Navy dry cargo ship, for repairs at an Indian facility in Chennai last week, marks an important first in the India-U.S. military relationship. Although bilateral strategic ties have advanced considerably over the past decade, reciprocal repair of military vessels was still a milestone that had not been crossed. With the arrival of Charles Drew at the Larsen and Toubro (L&T) facility at the Kattupalli dockyard, India and the U.S. seem to have moved past a self-imposed restriction.

Signs of a broader template

As some see it, a renewed sense of optimism now drives India-U.S. relations. During the bilateral 2+2 dialogue held in April this year, the two countries agreed to explore the possibilities of using Indian shipyards for the repair and maintenance of ships of the U.S. Military Sealift Command (MSC). In the weeks following that meeting, the MSC carried out an exhaustive audit of Indian yards, and cleared the facility at Kattupalli for the repair of U.S. military vessels.

The docking of a U.S. military vessel at an Indian facility has both functional and geopolitical implications. Functionally, it signals a more efficient leveraging of the Logistics Exchange Memorandum of Agreement (LEMOA) — the military logistics agreement India signed with the U.S. in 2017. Thus far, India-U.S. cooperation under the pact had largely been confined to the exchange of fuel and stores during joint exercises and relief operations. With the arrival of a U.S. military vessel at an Indian dockyard, the template of logistics cooperation seems to have broadened. There is a good possibility now that India would seek reciprocal access to repair facilities at U.S. bases in Asia and beyond.

Many in India, meanwhile, are seeing the U.S. ship's docking as a global endorsement of Indian shipbuilding and ship-repair capabilities.

In recent years, New Delhi has sought to showcase its private shipyards, in particular the L&T, which has developed significant ship design and construction capability at its yards in Hazira (Gujarat) and Kattupalli. At a time when the Indian Navy has taken delivery of the INS Vikrant, the country's first indigenously constructed aircraft carrier, the spirits of Indian shipbuilders are already riding high. As Indian observers see it, the presence of the USNS Charles Drew in an Indian dockyard is a boost for 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' and 'Make-in-India'.

The political signal

Politically, too, the development is noteworthy, as it signals a consolidation of the India-U.S. partnership, and the Quadrilateral (India, Japan, Australia and the United States) Security Dialogue. Despite its intention to strengthen logistics exchanges among Quad members, New Delhi has desisted from offering foreign warships access to Indian facilities. Notwithstanding the odd refuelling of foreign warships and aircraft in Indian facilities, India's military establishment has been wary of any moves that would create the impression of an anti-China alliance. Yet, Indian decision makers evidently are willing to be more ambitious with the India-U.S. strategic relationship. New Delhi's decision to open up repair facilities for the U.S. military suggests greater Indian readiness to accommodate the maritime interests of India's Quad partners.

For Washington, the strategic implications of the docking in India are no less tangible. This is an incremental step forward in the U.S. moving to bolster its military presence in the Eastern Indian Ocean. Recent assessments of the evolving security picture in the Indian Ocean point to the possibility of China's military expansion in the Asian littorals, holding at risk U.S. and European assets. Reportedly, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has been readying to play a more active security role in the region. New Delhi's offer of repair services for U.S. military vessels could kickstart a process that would culminate in India opening up its naval bases for friendly foreign warships. At a time when New Delhi has shied away from backing the U.S. position in the Russia-Ukraine war, greater India-U.S. synergy in the Indian Ocean littorals could galvanise the supporters of closer bilateral ties. It would revive talk about the bilateral as a defining partnership in the Indian Ocean, and of India's potential to counter China in the Indian Ocean. Coming on the heels of the delivery of the first two U.S. manufactured MH-60R (Multi Role Helicopters) to India (with a third craft due to arrive later this month) the visit of the USNS Charles Drew has given Indian and U.S. observers much to

Meanwhile, the Indian Navy has formally commenced its cooperation with the Bahrain-based multilateral partnership, Combined Maritime Forces (CMF), as an 'associate member'. This comes months after India had announced its intention to join the grouping in furtherance of its regional security goals. India's political and military leadership is seeing this as a demonstration of Indian commitment towards the collective responsibility of ensuring security in the shared commons.

Indian analysts, however, ought not to over-read developments, as extrapolating from perceived trends can often be misleading. The reality is that the India-U.S. relationship is still some way from crossing a critical threshold. For all the hype in the media surrounding India's membership of the CMF, the modalities of the engagement are still being worked out. The Indian Navy, it seems, has stopped short of formally joining the group, of which the Pakistan Navy is a key member. According to the CMF website, "associate members provide the assistance that they can offer, if they have the time and capacity to do so, whilst undertaking national tasking". This is not unlike India's earlier model of cooperation, whereby the Indian Navy worked alongside CMF and other security forces in the Western Indian Ocean on a need-to basis — all while operating independently, and under the broader banner of the United Nations. Despite increased engagement with the U.S. Navy, India's liaison officer at the U.S. Navy component (NAVCENT), or the U.S. Naval Forces Central Command) in the U.S. Central Command (CENTCOM) is still the military attaché at the Indian Embassy in Bahrain.

DR HARVINDER KAUR

Is there any Economic and Social Significance of Khap Panchayats in Progressive Haryana..?

With the advent of globalisation and liberalisation, many parts of India including Haryana have experienced rapid growth of urbanization and industrialization has given rise to urbanism in Haryana. Haryana is number 3rd in ease of doing business and has also been ranked third at the national level for its remarkable performance in industries and MSMEs. Savitri Jindal who is Asia's richest woman belongs to Haryana. The glory of Haryana is also visible in the commonwealth games and the role of Haryana was exclusive, especially for women players.

But still, Haryana's economic development sits uneasily with the regressive social and gender attitudes of its all-powerful khap panchayats. The largely agrarian society is against the act of increasing the age of marriage and the Succession Act of 1956. The recent series of violent crimes against women and aggressive statements on lowering the marriage age align with this anti-women attitude.

Khaps are largely believed to be started by upper caste jats in the fourteenth century, to consolidate their power and position. Each clan has a hereditary headman called a Chaudhry. However, some of the jat clans have called this position secretary. The clan head man is also the head man of the khap council, which is an institution which claims sovereignty over a particular area, either in the name of the clan or the gotra which is dominant in that area or by the name of the geographical area. There are social-political groups, which usually comprise the upper caste and elderly men who are united by geography and caste. Hence, Khap is a term for a social-political grouping and is used in a cast and geographical sense. Khap was a system of social administration and organization in the republics of North-western states like Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan in India since ancient times. It is commonly believed that they came into existence sometime around 600 AD. It is believed to have been started by the upper caste 'Jats' to consolidate their power and position in the community.

No doubt, the role of Khap Panchayats has been remarkably appreciated by scholars. The 'Khap Panchayats' have been rising socioeconomic and political issues from time to time. The pressing problems which include prevention of drinking habits among the villagers, female foeticide problem, brahambhoj on death and dowry system in the villages are some of the vital issues raised by the Khap Panchayats. To put check on the dowry system, a vital role played by the 'Khap Panchayats' a conference was held in the year 1950 at the village Beri in the Jhajjar district, where the rules framed by the 'Khap Panchayats' were to be followed by everyone, irrespective any caste, creed and religion. Similarly, from time to time various khaps put check on the menace of drinking and gambling. The special role of Khaps has been seen during COVID-19 when the Khaps banned the entry of outsiders into villages.

Khaps are nonelected as well as has no legal existence. They are based on gotra/s and caste systems and work like a joint family system. Traditionally khaps were engaged primarily in dispute resolution and in regulating the behaviour of individuals or groups, especially in rural North India. But lately, these bodies are notorious for their diktats and regressive practices that are targeting youth, especially girls who do not follow their outdated feudal and patriarchal ideology.

In India especially in Haryana, Punjab, Rajasthan and UP among others a marriage in the same gotra, in the same village and neighbouring village (as it forms part of 'bhairchara') is a taboo. Anyone daring to break these taboos is simply inviting the 'Hookah pani band' (ex-communication). According to certain communities marriage within the same gotra and the three generations of the mother's gotra is completely prohibited. A khap panchayat imposes its writ through a combination of social boycotts, fines and, in some cases, either killing or forcing the victims to commit suicide. The northern state of Haryana has seen the most extreme cases of gendered 'honour' killings, though other states, such as Uttar Pradesh and Punjab, have also witnessed similar incidences. Haryana is second in the country in high per capita income but lowest in gender equality and sex ratio, the highest female foeticide, female infanticide and, more recently, khap authorised killings. According to khaps marrying within the same gotras gives rise to various serious ailments and children will be wiser if gotra prohibition is followed. As per survey, 77% of the respondents do not support same gotra marriages. The survey was carried out in Chandigarh, Rohtak, Jind, Bhiwani and Kurukshetra. Surprisingly, even in Chandigarh, 65% of the respondents have opposed same-gotra marriages.

Haryana's story of economic development has not translated into corresponding gains in the social sphere with its people continuing to be subjected to traditional institutions and their regressive practices. This paradox in the state is indicative of how development can sometimes be misleading, if it does not change unjust cultural thought and practices. Despite constitutional provisions and safeguards to protect the rights of women by ensuring equality of opportunity and building a gender-just society, the state has the dubious distinction of the growing incidence of rapes/gang rapes, eve-teasing, molestation, abduction, rampant foeticide, child marriages, honour killings, diktats by khaps, violence against girls in natal families on the choice of their marriage partners and property issues, etc. In the state of Haryana, the women's work participation rate is lowest at only 17%. Although the sex ratio has improved in Haryana the sex ratio at birth for children (0-5) is showing signs of skewed sex ratio and unfolding the desire and preference for a male child in Haryana. Even in distt. Where the literacy rate is high still the sex ratio is decreasing among (0-5) children according to NFSH-5. Similar differences also exist in women's time allocation to paid and unpaid work. Haryana is the most unequal among the Indian states with men aged between 15-59 spend just 15 minutes on unpaid housework every day while women of the same age do 269 minutes of unpaid housework. The role of Khaps cannot be neglected for the degradable conditions of women in Haryana. Khaps are undemocratic in structure and functioning and they have no elected principle. They override any notion of gender equality or gender empowerment.

The khap panchayat diktats are increasing especially against young couples either in the name of the same gotra or invoking some other code of conduct in the name of Bhai Chara. Because of the widespread prevalence of patriarchy and casteism, and the low social status of women in Haryana, rural society in the state is widely perceived as one of the most regressive in India. Several incidents in the past years have reinforced this image. The honour killings such as Nidhi-Dharmendra (2013), Ved Pal Mor (2009), ManojBabli (2007) etc are not only fuelled but also glorified by these unconstitutional institutions.

BOOKS: REVIEW

An unmatched portrait of Subhas Chandra Bose

A new book "Netaji" offers a rare in-depth account of Subhas Chandra Bose's political motivations, his personal relationships, and the daring military campaigns he undertook to secure India's independence.

Originally written in Bengali by the late scholar and Bose's family member Krishna Bose, the writings reveal the "human being alongside the revolutionary and freedom fighter", traversing Bose's life from childhood to his death in August 1945.

The writings were compiled, edited and translated by her son Sumantra Bose.

"I have long felt that a prime selection of my mother's best writing on Netaji, the INA and the struggle for India's freedom should be available in English. . . My mother was so full of vitality till the end of her life, despite some physical infirmities due to advanced age, that I had expected her to live a few years longer, into her nineties," writes Sumantra in the book, author of recently published "Kashmir at the Crossroads: Inside a 21st-Century Conflict".

"But there can be no better time for the publication of this volume — which presents a unique, composite portrait of Subhas Chandra Bose — than the 75th anniversary of India's independence," Sumantra Bose added.

August 18, 2022 marks the 77th death anniversary of Ne-taji, who — notwithstanding the mystery surrounding his demise — is widely believed to have died in a plane crash in Taiwan.

Aiming to bring an end to the controversies and conspiracy theories surrounding the freedom fighter, the over 300-page book gives a detailed and evidence-based account of Netaji's death in one of its chapters.

Netaji Krishna Bose Rupa 72 pages; Rs 95

Featuring 95 images and letters from family albums and Netaji Research Bureau archives, this nuanced and revelatory portrait of Netaji contains intriguing accounts of his personal relationships as well as those with his key political contemporaries — from Nehru and Gandhi to Tojo and Hitler.

"It also contains a detailed account of the women who influenced Netaji (his mother, adoptive mother, wife, and close friends as well as the soldiers of the all-women Rani of Jhansi regiment), an eyewitness account of Netaji's epic struggle in Europe and Asia, his secret submarine journey and escape from his Calcutta home . . . and the Andamans where Netaji raised the national tricolour," read publishing house Pan Macmillan's description of the book.

Krishna Bose, a former MP from West Bengal, was married to Sisir Kumar Bose — the son of Netaji's older brother and lifelong confidant Sarat Chandra Bose. After Sisir's death, she served as Netaji Research Bureau (NRB) chairperson for two decades until her death in 2020.

The book is currently available for sale across offline and online stores.

In January 1941, Netaji made a dramatic escape from his Calcutta residence where he had been kept under house arrest by the British. Prior to that, he had been a member of the Indian civil services, but resigned to fight for his country's independence.

India achieved 10 pc ethanol blending target ahead of schedule: PM

India, the world's third biggest oil importing and consuming nation, achieved the target to blend 10 per cent sugarcane-extracted ethanol in petrol ahead of schedule, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said.

Addressing the nation from the ramparts of the Red Fort on the 76th Independence Day, he rooted for energy independence and a nation self-sufficient in meeting its energy needs.

"We need to be Aatmanirbhar (self-sufficient) in our energy sector," he said. For a nation, 85 per cent dependent on imports for meeting its oil needs and 50 per cent for gas requirement, the key is alternate energy sources - from renewable power to hydrogen and switching to electric vehicles from current petrol and diesel-run automobiles.

"From solar energy to Mission Hydrogen to adoption to EVs, we need to take these initiatives to the next level for energy independence," he said.

In a bid to cut reliance on imported oil, the government is pushing for mixing of ethanol, made from sugarcane and other agri commodities, in petrol. Modi said India achieved the target of blending 10 per cent ethanol in petrol ahead of schedule. The target of supplying petrol mixed with 10 per cent ethanol (10 per cent petrol, 90 per cent petrol) was achieved in June, ahead of the original schedule of November 2022. Encouraged by the success, the government advanced the target of making petrol with 20 per cent ethanol by five years to 2025.

Last week, the Prime Minister had stated that 10 per cent ethanol blending had resulted in saving of about

Rs 50,000 crore of foreign exchange, reduced greenhouse gas emissions and gave farmers an alternate source of income.

India is the world's fifth largest producer of ethanol after the US, Brazil, EU and China. Ethanol worldwide is largely used for consumption but nations like Brazil and India also do it in petrol.

Supply of petrol with 20 per cent ethanol will result in a saving of an estimated USD 4 billion annually.

The increased blending will expand the use of renewable energy in the world's third-biggest oil importer and consumer, and help turn the nation's surplus rice and damaged food grains into ethanol.

Metaverse & Web 3.0 are going to play a vital role in this year's festive season: Agam Chaudhary

FW DESK

The shopping season is set to kick off with the onset of the great big Indian festival season that commences with the upcoming Ganesh Chaturthi festival. This puts the spotlight on the retail sector, where consumer engagement is of prime importance. Retailers can no longer afford to be quite laid-back about it as they are no longer just operating in a physical world, but also a digitalised one.

However, the digitalised world, which includes websites, mobile apps, and social media, has now gone virtual with Metaverse and Web 3.0. And retailers are now exploring the technology to leverage their brand, consumer engagement, and sales, this festive season.

The immersive technology of Metaverse, which is a combination of augmented, virtual and mixed reality, is largely youth-driven. Agam Chaudhary, the founder of Two99, which delivers end-to-end marketing solutions to WEB 3.0 companies, says, "Be it digital or virtual, it's the new generation that is driving the trend, especially since they are the prime consumers in gaming on Metaverse. They are used to a certain level of 3D experience that Metaverse has to offer and would expect the same in all their other virtual engagements. In fact, it's a highly personalised experience for the retailer, too, to take the product to the consumer wherever he/she is virtually."

Interestingly, the retail sector is no longer the only real-world metaverse use case. The immersive technology has already made inroads in other eight sectors, including healthcare, travels & tours, financial services, media & telecom, construction and real-estate, energy and industrial goods and transportation. "This is a far cry from the general belief that the metaverse will be a reality in another five years. It is already here," says Mr. Chaudhary, adding, "The operational problem of creating the metaverse still exists even though India appears to have the technical, demographic, and policy basis for it. The deal flow in the private sector must quicken if India is to assume a leading position."

LIC keen to re-enter mediclaim segment, awaiting regulatory clarity: Chairman

Insurance behemoth Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) is keen to re-enter the mediclaim segment as and when the regulator provides clarity on the issue, its chairman has said.

"We are already doing a lot of long-term health protection and guaranteed health products. And we are evaluating the suggestion that the regulator Irdai made recently," LIC Chairman M R Kumar told PTI when asked about the same during its earnings call over the weekend.

The chairman further said, "I don't think it will be difficult for us as we already offer some of the health products."

Mediclaim policies, which are indemnity-based health plans, are the best-selling health insurance products in the country. However, in 2016, the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai) had asked life insurers to withdraw indemnity-based health plans from the market. Life insurers since then have been allowed to offer only fixed benefit health plans.

Under indemnity-based health insurance plans, the insurer provides reimbursement for the money spent on medical treatment up to the sum insured. For fixed benefit health insurance plans, a fixed amount is paid out of the sum insured for pre-determined illnesses or medical conditions.

Recently, the new Irdai Chairman Debasish Panda had said it was time life insurers re-entered the health vertical as he had given a mandate to the industry to ensure that every citizen has a health insurance policy by 2030.

However, Panda later clarified that the regulator was only evaluating the pros and cons of allowing life insurers to sell health insurance policies and that no decision has been taken yet.

Globally, in most markets, life insurers sell health policies.

Currently, there are 24.50 lakh life insurance agents in the country, while there are only 3.60 lakh agents in the general and health insurance category. If life insurers are allowed into the health insurance sector, the number of agents will jump by 600 percent, increasing health insurance penetration significantly in the country.

However, according to industry watchers, there are some difficulties in the proposal. For instance, the claims department in a life insurer is oriented towards payment of the claim on death or policy maturity but health insurance claims are logged by around 7 per cent of the insured during the year.

But others counter that life insurers already have the necessary infrastructure in terms of distribution and policy servicing to offer these plans. In fact, this is an opportunity to further elevate the experience from what it was before 2016 when these policies were being offered by life insurers.

PM Modi vowed to fight against corruption with full vigour.

Electric two-wheelers can pave the way towards an energy-independent, self-reliant future for India

FW DESK

India is known to be one of the world's largest two-wheeler markets. Estimates from India Emissions Model of the International Council for Clean Transportation indicate that two-wheelers accounted for 70% of petrol, and 25% of oil consumption from road transport in 2021. India's dependence on fossil fuels will more than double by the year 2050 if we continue to promote petrol-powered two-wheelers.

In the past few years, the healthy uptake of electric two-wheelers in India has been instrumental in accelerating the country's transition to e-mobility. According to a recent report by the NITI Aayog and the Technology Information, Forecasting and Assessment Council (TIFAC), there is a possibility of 100% penetration of electric two-wheelers in the Indian market by FY26-27.

Talking Points

All is not well in the world of sweeteners

Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) took more than 3000 jaggeries (gur) samples from around 250 districts across the nation. The results of the investigation are surprising, as the jaggery of Punjab has been found to be the worst in the country. Talking about the quality of jaggery found in other markets of the country, 36% of the jaggery did not meet the standards.

Tripura, Uttarakhand, Andaman and Nicobar, Andhra Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Telangana Sikkim, Assam, and Karnataka are the states whose jaggery was found to be fine, according to the latest report by the FSSAI. The states whose jaggery was found to be low standard are Punjab, Bihar, Arunachal Pradesh, Goa, Uttar Pradesh, Manipur, Orissa, Gujarat, and Himachal Pradesh. While Bhopal, Ranchi, Delhi, Indore, Jaipur, Pune, Siliguri, and Prayagraj are the prominent cities, jaggery was found to be of good quality. The investigating agency says that loose jaggery quality was very poor, while packaged and branded jaggery was found to be more or less fine.

The use of sugar in canned or packaged food and drinks is increasing in India. Also, saccharin is being used in the name of added sugar, which is a worrying trend. Between 2007 and 2019, a study was conducted on the use of sugar and sweeteners in packaged food and soft drinks, the report of which shows that in countries like India and China, the use of sugar to sweeten drinks has increased by more than 50%. The study found that food manufacturers adopt a dual policy, by selling high sugar and saccharin-rich foods in India while keeping the sugar content low in products exported to rich countries like the US.

The side effects of sugar-free foods and drinks are also worrying. Research from Massachusetts General Hospital indicates that consuming foods or beverages that claim to be sugar-free can lead to heart diseases, and reduced eyesight and they are not at all helpful in weight loss. The chemical process used to make sweeteners like saccharin has an adverse effect on the digestive system also. They destroy the bacteria present in the intestines, killing the appetite, due to which problems like diabetes, heart disease, and obesity arise.

Return of Gilli Danda While taking action against Chinese products two years ago, Prime Minister Narendra Modi called for developing Indian toys and infusing new energy into the indigenous toy industry. Now on the completion of 75 years of India's independence, under Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, the central government has taken steps to introduce 75 indigenous sports in all schools. The popular indigenous games include Gilli-danda, Posampa, Kanche, Kabaddi, Langdi, Kite flying, Sita udhar, Vish Amrit and Mardani Khel, etc.

Till three decades ago, all these games were often played in villages, towns, and streets, but after the trend of the internet and social media, they all disappeared and in their place, sports like cricket, and volleyball started getting priority. Also, due to social media, children started playing online games while staying indoors, due to which outdoor games gradually vanished. The government has started making 75 Indian sports a part of school education under the Indian Knowledge System (IKS) program. These will be implemented through physical training instructors (PTIs).

It is often seen that there is a lack of facilities and sports infrastructure in rural schools, due to which village children are unable to participate in many sports and lag behind in competitions. In view of this, the government, considering that indigenous sports do not require any infrastructure, decided to promote 75 purely Indian sports. The list of sports also includes Santal Katti, a game similar to the popular Gilli-danda in Orissa, and a Manipuri game played with coconut, which is similar to rugby. Gilli-Danda is a 5000-years-old Indian game, which is also mentioned in Mahabharata that Lord Krishna, Arjuna, and Bhima were playing Gilli-Danda at one stance.

Global eyes on India

Many countries of the world including the US and Europe are currently suffering from the recession. The situation worsened after the Covid pandemic. The profits of all the companies the world over went down, forcing the corporates to reduce the workforce under cost-cutting efforts. Things have improved a bit now, but the slowdown continues in the West and elsewhere in the world. In such a situation, work and investment opportunities are decreasing in the US, Europe, and China, whereas it is never the case in India.

Ample investment opportunities galore in India. Here the effect of recession is not as it is in the US or European nations. In fact, more than half of India's population lives in villages and the rural economy is a significant strength of India. This is the reason why there are good investment opportunities in India for foreign companies.

People in US and European countries are caught in the trap of credit cards and EMIs. This is not the case with Indians, who are reluctant to take loans and avoid the clutches of credit cards and loans too. More than 85% of India's populace does not even invest in the stock market. In such a situation, if the stock market falls, then it does not make any significant difference to the Indian economy.

Thus, Interest Subvention of 1.5% will be provided to lending institutions (Public Sector Banks, Private Sector Banks, Small Finance Banks, Regional Rural Banks, Cooperative Banks and Computerized PACS directly ceded with commercial banks) for the financial year 2022-23 to 2024-25 for lending short term agri-loans upto Rs 3 lakh to the farmers.

the agriculture sector as well as ensure financial health and viability of the lending institutions especially Regional Rural Banks & Cooperative Banks, ensuring adequate agriculture credit in rural economy. Banks will be able to absorb increase in cost of funds and will be encouraged to grant loans to farmers for short term agriculture requirements and enable more farmers to get the benefit of agriculture credit. This will also lead to generation of employment since short term agri-loans are provided for all activities including Animal Husbandry, Dairying, Poultry, fisheries. Farmers will continue to avail short term agriculture credit at interest rate of 4% per annum while repaying the loan in time. Ensuring hassle-free credit availability at cheaper rate to farmers has been the top priority of Government of India. Accordingly, Kisan Credit Card scheme was introduced for farmers, to empower them to purchase agriculture products and services on credit at any time. To ensure that the farmers have to pay a minimal interest rate to the bank, the Government of India introduced Interest Subvention Scheme (ISS), now renamed as Modified Interest Subvention Scheme (MISS), to provide short term credit to farmers at subsidized interest rates. Under this scheme, short term agriculture loan upto Rs. 3.00 lakh is available to farmers engaged in Agriculture and other allied activities including Animal Husbandry, Dairying, Poultry, fisheries etc. at the rate of 7% p.a. An additional 3% subvention (Prompt Repayment Incentive - PRI) is also given to the farmers for prompt and timely repayment of loans. Therefore, if a farmer repays his loan on time, he gets credit at the rate of 4% p.a. For enabling this facility to the farmers, Government of India provides Interest Subvention (IS) to the Financial Institutions offering this scheme. This support is 100% funded by the Centre, it is also the second largest scheme of DA&FW as per budget outlay and coverage of beneficiaries. Recently, under the Aatmanirbhar Bharat campaign, over 3.13 Crore farmers have been issued new Kisan Credit Card (KCC) against the target of 2.5 Crore. Special initiatives such as the KCC Saturation Drive for farmers enrolled under PM-KISAN scheme have also simplified the process and documentation involved for getting the KCC sanctioned. Keeping in view the changing economic scenario, especially increase in the interest rate and lending rates for the financial institutions especially Cooperative Banks and Regional Rural Banks.

According to official figures, India's retail inflation softened to 6.71 per cent in July due to moderation in food prices but remained above the Reserve Bank's comfort level of 6 per cent for the seventh consecutive month.

BJP leader suggests Bollywood stars should charge reasonable fee

With many Hindi films underperforming at the box office, BJP national spokesperson Syed Zafar Islam suggested on Tuesday that Bollywood stars should reduce their fee to allow producers to focus on good cinema. The film industry should realise that OTT platforms are a better and cost-effective option to people now, he tweeted. He said, "Bollywood stars haven't understood the great reality despite flops after flops. If stars start charging reasonable fee, producers can focus on good cinema of national interest. Re-member OTT is a better and cost-effective option available to people." Since normal life resumed after the Covid-enforced lockdown, the Hindi film industry has been going through a lean phase with many big budget movies featuring big stars unable to do good business.

Bollywood Actress Jacqueline Fernandez named as accused in ED's supplementary charge sheet

FW DESK

Bollywood actress Jacqueline Fernandez was named as an accused in the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) supplementary charge sheet filed in the Rs 200 crore money laundering case involving conman Sukesh Chandrashekar, claim sources. ED is likely to file a second supplementary prosecution complaint against the actress before the Patiala House Court on Wednesday. Jacqueline and Nora Fatehi, also a Bollywood actress, have already recorded their statement as witness in the case. Earlier, fixed deposits worth

Rs 7.2 crore belonging to Jacqueline were attached by the ED. The probe agency termed these gifts and properties as proceeds of crime received by the actress. In February, the ED had filed its first supplementary prosecution complaint against Pinky Irani, an alleged aide to Chandrashekar who introduced him to the actresses. It was alleged in the charge sheet that Pinky used to choose costly gifts for Jacqueline and later used to drop it at her house after the payments were made by Chandrashekar. In December last year, the ED had filed the first charge sheet in this matter before the court of Additional Sessions Judge Praveen Singh. Chandrashekar has allegedly spent around 20 crore on different models and Bollywood celebs. A few had refused to take gifts from him. According to an excerpt from the charge sheet, Jacqueline says she did receive expensive gifts from Sukesh and that he had also purchased a horse "Espuela".

The 990 days tenure too carries the same interest rate, up from 7.20 per cent earlier. The additional rate for senior citizens is now revised to 0.75 per cent from 0.50 per cent, the bank said. The new rates are applicable on deposits below Rs 2 crore. The lender said it will offer monthly, quarterly and at maturity interest pay-out options. Ujjivan SFB said these new rates are also applicable on tax saver fixed deposits carrying a lock-in period of five years.

Cabinet approves enhancement in the corpus of ECLGS for increasing the limit of admissible guarantees

FW DESK

Union Cabinet, chaired by the Prime Minister, Narendra Modi has approved the enhancement in the limit of Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) by Rs 50,000 crore from Rs. 4.5 Lakh crore to Rs. 5 Lakh crore, with the additional amount being earmarked exclusively for enterprises in hospitality and related sectors. The increase has been done on account of the severe disruptions caused by COVID-19 pandemic on hospitality and related enterprises. ECLGS is a continuing scheme. The additional amount of Rs. 50,000 crore would be made applicable to enterprises in hospitality and related sectors till validity of the scheme which is 31.3.2023. ECLGS is an already operational scheme and on account of the disruptions caused by the COVID 19 pandemic on hospitality and related sectors, Government has specifically earmarked an amount of Rs. 50,000 crore for enterprises in these sectors. The enhancement is expected to provide much needed relief to enterprises in these sectors by incentivizing lending institutions to provide additional credit of up to Rs. 50,000 crore at low cost, thereby enabling these business enterprises to meet their operational liabilities and continue their businesses. Loans of about Rs. 3.67 Lakh crore have been sanctioned under ECLGS till 5.8.2022. The ongoing pandemic has adversely impacted contact-

Reliance, Nayara face windfall profit tax on local supplies alongside exports

The just-introduced tax on windfall energy profits of oil refiners like Reliance Industries is not only levied on the diesel they export but also on the supplies they make to fuel retailers within India, sources said. The government on July 1 levied Rs 13 per litre additional excise duty on diesel exported out of India. A Rs 6 a litre tax was also imposed on petrol and ATF exported out of India. Alongside, it imposed export restrictions, subject to meeting domestic sales of 50 per cent for petrol and 30 per cent for diesel exports. In subsequent fortnightly reviews, the government scrapped the export tax on petrol and jet fuel (ATF) and more than halved the export tax on diesel to Rs 5 per litre. The windfall tax was targeted mainly at Reliance Industries Ltd and Russian oil major Rosneft-backed Nayara Energy, who the government believed were making a killing on exporting large volumes of fuel made from discounted Russian oil, at the cost of the domestic market, three sources with knowledge of the matter said. Post July 1, refiners exporting petrol and diesel would have had lower realisations and for continued exports, they had to shore up domestic supplies either through supplies to state-owned oil marketing companies (OMCs), bulk sales or retail. But the state-owned fuel retailers like Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd (HPCL) and Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd (BPCL), who have a sizeable dependence on supplies from standalone refineries to feed their vast retail network, started paying for petrol and diesel bought from Reliance and others after deducting the newly imposed additional excise duty. Sources said for sales to OMCs, refiners realize international prices as refinery transfer prices are 80 per cent of import parity and 20 per cent of export parity (the average of 80 per cent of the price at which petrol or diesel be imported and 20 per cent of the rate at which these fuels can be exported).

US Congress members meet Taiwan leader amid China anger

Taiwan's President Tsai Ing-wen met Monday with a delegation of US Congress members in a further sign of support among American lawmakers for the self-governing island that China claims as its own territory.

Taiwanese media showed the delegation arriving for the talks, but details of the meeting were not immediately released.

It comes less than two weeks after US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's visit to Taiwan, which prompted days of threatening military exercises by China, including the firing of missiles over the island and into the Taiwan Strait. China has also sent warplanes and navy ships across the waterway's median, which has long been a buffer between the sides that separated amid civil war in 1949. China regards formal contacts between US politicians and the island's government as support for its independence from Beijing. China says it wants to use peaceful means to bring Taiwan under its control, but its recent saber rattling has emphasized its military threat. The five-member delegation is led by Democratic Sen. Ed Markey of Massachusetts and is to meet with other government and private sector representatives. Reducing tensions in the Taiwan Strait and investments in Taiwan's crucial semiconductor industry are expected to be key topics of discussion. The other members of the delegation are Republican Rep. Aumua Amata Coleman Radewagen, a delegate from American Samoa, and Democrats John Garamendi and Alan Lowenthal from California and Don Beyer from Virginia.

16 killed, 36 missing in flash flooding in China

At least 16 people were killed and 36 others remained missing after a flash flood hit a county in China's northwest Qinghai province, local authorities said on Thursday. The flash flood hit Datong

Hui and Tu Autonomous County on Wednesday night, state-run Xinhua news agency quoted the local emergency management department as saying. A total of 6,245 people from 1,517 households in six villages were affected by the flash flood. The mountain flood was triggered by a sudden heavy rainfall in Datong county. Local authorities initiated a level-two emergency response on Thursday morning, state-run Global Times reported. Level-II is the second-most severe response in a four-tier disaster control emergency response system in China.

More than 2,000 people with over 160 vehicles from the armed police, public security, emergency and health departments have been sent to the scene for rescue work.

Former Australia PM says secret powers were needed in crisis

Scott Morrison said Wednesday that giving himself extra powers when he was Australia's prime minister was necessary during the coronavirus crisis as criticism rose the moves were deceptive and undemocratic.

Current Prime Minister Anthony Albanese is seeking an opinion from the solicitor-general on the legality of some of Morrison's moves.

Many of Morrison's own colleagues were blindsided by his decision to secretly appoint himself to five ministerial roles, which have only been revealed in recent days. Some have called for him to resign from Parliament, where he is now an opposition lawmaker after losing the general election to Albanese earlier this year.

Chinese factories close as drought hurts hydropower

Factories in China's southwest have shut down after reservoirs used to generate hydropower ran low in a worsening drought, adding to economic strains at a time when President Xi Jinping is trying to extend his position in power.

Companies in Sichuan province including makers of solar panels, cement and urea closed or reduced production after they were ordered to ration power for up to five days, according to news reports Wednesday. That came after reservoir levels fell and power demand for air conditioning surged in scorching temperatures.

Leave power for the people, said an order from the provincial government dated Tuesday.

Soaring food & energy costs drive UK inflation to 10.1%

Britain's inflation rate rose to a new 40-year high of 10.1% in July, as rising food prices tightened a cost-of-living squeeze fuelled by soaring energy prices.

The Office for National Statistics said on Wednesday that consumer prices inflation hit double digits, a jump from 9.4 per cent in June and higher than analysts' central forecast of 9.8%. The increase was largely due to rising prices for food and staples including toilet paper and toothbrushes, it said. Most economists believe worse is to come. The Bank of England says soaring natural gas prices are likely to drive consumer price inflation to 13.3% in October. It says that will push Britain into a recession that is expected to last through 2023.

ISI of Pakistan luring Sikhs to speak in favour of Pakistan

Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) is luring Sikh people with money to speak in favour of the country, sources said. ISI is also planning to lure Indian Sikh leaders by providing them a hefty amount to speak in favour of Pakistan.

The agency has till now taken only few leaders into confidence, which mainly include members of Pakistan Sikh Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee.

Lured by money, these Sikh leaders have started making statements in favour of Pakistan.

Here are some people and what they said in favour of Pakistan --

Simpal Singh (Member of National Commission for Minorities):

"We being a minority in Pakistan consider ourselves lucky that we are living in a country where people belonging to minority communities get more hospitality and are safer than any other country in the world."

Founder of Pakistan Quaid e Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah in his historic speech on August 11, 1947 had assured the minorities in the country by saying that "You are free to go to your religious places and also free to go to the mosques".

The minorities in Pakistan are enjoying their religious freedom and every government tries to ensure our rights according to the Constitution.

The Kartarpur Corridor is a splendid example of the respect minorities get in this country. Being a minority, we have special rights on many aspects and enjoy special respect in the society.

Minorities are given importance in Pakistan and I am the biggest example of this."

Gopal Singh (Member of Pakistan Sikh Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee):

Pakistani doctor pleads guilty to terror charge in Minnesota

A Pakistani doctor and former Mayo Clinic research coordinator pleaded guilty Tuesday to a terrorism charge, more than two years after he was arrested for telling paid FBI informants that he pledged his allegiance to the Islamic State group and that he wanted to carry out lone wolf attacks in the US.

According to online court records, Muhammad Masood pleaded guilty to one count of attempting to provide material support to a foreign terrorist organization. A sentencing date has not been set. Prosecutors say Masood was in the US on a work visa. They alleged that starting in January of 2020, Masood made several statements to paid informants whom he believed were members of the Islamic State group pledging his allegiance to the group and its leader. Prosecutors said Masood expressed his desire to travel to Syria to fight for ISIS and a desire to carry out lone wolf attacks in the US.

The Mayo Clinic has previously confirmed that Masood was a former employee at the medical center in Rochester, Minnesota, but was not employed by the clinic at the time of his arrest.

S Korea offers North economic benefits for denuclearisation

South Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol on Monday offered audacious economic assistance to North Korea if it abandons its nuclear weapons programme while avoiding harsh criticism of the North days after it threatened deadly retaliation over the COVID-19 outbreak it blames on the South.

In a speech celebrating the end of Japan's colonisation of the Korean Peninsula, Yoon also called for better ties with Japan, calling the two countries partners in navigating challenges to freedom and saying their shared values will help them overcome historical grievances linked to Japan's brutal colonial rule before the end of World War II.

Yoon's televised speech on the liberation holiday came days after North Korea claimed a widely disputed victory over COVID-19 but also blamed Seoul for the outbreak.

World's biggest cities face worst air quality: Report

The world's biggest cities and urban areas face some of the worst air quality on the planet, a new report published by the US-based research organization Health Effects Institute (HEI) said on Wednesday.

The report, Air Quality and Health in Cities, released by HEI's State of Global Air Initiative, provides a comprehensive and detailed analysis of air pollution and global health effects for more than 7,000 cities around the world, focusing on two of the most harmful pollutants; fine particulate matter (PM2.5) and nitrogen dioxide (NO2).

In 2019, 1.7 million deaths linked to PM2.5 exposure occurred in the 7,239 cities included in the analysis, with cities in Asia, Africa, and Eastern and Central Europe seeing the greatest health impacts.

By the year 2050, as much as 68 per cent of the world's population is expected to live in urban areas. This rapid urbanization places the world's top cities at the forefront in the battle to reduce the health effects of air pollution, especially in low- and middle-income countries. The report, using data from 2010 to 2019, found that global patterns for exposures to the two-key air pollutants are strikingly different. While exposures to fine particulate, or PM2.5 pollution tend to be higher in cities located in low- and middle-income countries, exposure to nitrogen dioxide, or NO2, is high across cities in high-income as well as low- and middle-income countries.

Biden says US & India are indispensable partners, invokes Mahatma Gandhi in Independence Day message

United States and India are indispensable partners, President Joe Biden has said and recalled Mahatma Gandhi's "enduring message of truth and non-violence" to honour 75 years of India's democratic journey.

This year, the US and India also celebrate the 75th anniversary of diplomatic relations, Biden said, underlining that the two democracies will continue to stand together to defend the rules-based order, advance a free and open Indo-Pacific and address the challenges that the world is facing. "As people around the world, including nearly four million (40 lakh) proud Indian-Americans, celebrate the 75th anniversary of India's independence on August 15, the United States joins the people of India to honour its democratic journey, guided by Mahatma Gandhi's enduring message of truth and non-violence," Biden said in a statement. "This year, we also celebrate the 75th anniversary of diplomatic relations between our great democracies. India and the United States are indispensable partners, and the US-India

Strategic Partnership is grounded in our shared commitment to the rule of law and the promotion of human freedom and dignity," he said.

He said the partnership between the two nations is further strengthened by the deep bonds between their people. "The vibrant Indian-American community in the United States has made us a more innovative, inclusive, and stronger nation," Biden said. "I am confident that in the years ahead our two democracies will continue to stand together to defend the rules-based order; foster greater peace, prosperity and security for our people; advance a free and open Indo-Pacific; and together address the challenges we face around the world," Biden said.

Rushdie stood up for universal rights of freedom of expression, freedom of religion: Blinken

Asserting that Salman Rushdie has consistently stood up for the universal rights of freedom of expression, freedom of religion and freedom of the press, US Secretary of State Tony Blinken on Sunday said Iranian state institutions have incited violence against the Indian-origin author for generations and state-affiliated media recently gloated about an attempt on his life.

Rushdie (75) was stabbed by a 24-year-old New Jersey resident at a literary event in New York on Friday in what US authorities described as a "targeted, preplanned" attack. He is "pulling through" and has his "feisty and defiant" sense of humour intact despite battling severe, life-changing injuries, his son and former wife Padma Lakshmi said on Sunday.

"We join those around the world who are keeping Salman Rushdie in our thoughts in the aftermath of this heinous attack," Blinken said in a statement.

Biden signs massive climate and health care legislation

President Joe Biden signed Democrats' landmark climate change and health care bill into law on Tuesday, delivering what he has called the final piece of his pared-down domestic agenda, as he aims to boost his party's standing with voters less than three months before the midterm elections.

The legislation includes the most substantial federal investment in history to fight climate change some USD 375 billion over the decade and would cap prescription drug costs at USD 2,000 out-of-pocket annually for Medicare recipients. It also would help an estimated 13 million Americans pay for health care insurance by extending subsidies provided during the coronavirus pandemic.

The measure is paid for by new taxes on large companies and stepped-up IRS enforcement of wealthy individuals and entities, with additional funds going to reduce the federal deficit.

In a triumphant signing event at the White House, Biden pointed to the law as proof that democracy no matter how long or messy the process can still deliver for voters in America as he road-tested a line he will likely repeat later this fall ahead of the midterms: The American people won, and the special interests lost.

In this historic moment, Democrats sided with the American people, and every single Republican in the Congress sided with the special interests in this vote, Biden said, repeatedly seizing on the contrast between his party and the GOP. Every single one.

The House on Friday approved the measure on a party-line 220-207 vote. It passed the Senate days earlier with Vice President Kamala Harris breaking a 50-50 tie in that chamber.

In normal times, getting these bills done would be a huge achievement, Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y., said during the White House ceremony. But to do it now, with only 50 Democratic votes in the Senate, over an intransigent Republican minority, is nothing short of amazing.

Zelensky to host Lviv talks with UN chief, Turkish leader

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky is due to host the UN chief and Turkey's leader Thursday for talks on the recent deal to resume Ukraine's grain exports, the volatile situation at a Russian-occupied nuclear power plant and efforts to help end the nearly six-month-old war.

UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres arrived Wednesday in Lviv, near Ukraine's border with Poland, where he will meet Zelensky and Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

UN deputy spokesman Farhan Haq said that among other issues, Guterres will discuss "his overall efforts to do what he can to essentially lower the temperature as much as possible with the various authorities."

Last month, Turkey and the UN helped broker an agreement clearing the way for Ukraine to export 22 million tons of corn and other grain stuck in its Black Sea ports since Russia invaded February 24.

A separate memorandum between Russia and the UN aimed to clear roadblocks to shipments of Russian food and fertilizer to world markets. The war and the blocked exports significantly exacerbated the global food crisis because Ukraine and Russia are major suppliers.

Grain prices peaked after Russia's invasion, and while some have since returned to prewar levels, they remain significantly higher than before the COVID-19 pandemic.

Developing countries have been hit particularly hard by supply shortages and high prices. Even though ships are now leaving Russia and Ukraine, the food crisis hasn't ended.

UN spokesman Stephane Dujarric told reporters this week that Guterres' trip to Ukraine will allow him to see first-hand the results of an initiative that is so critically important to hundreds of millions of people.

Dujarric added that he expects the need for a political solution to the war to be raised in Thursday's talks. He said the three leaders will also discuss the situation at the Russian-controlled Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant in southern Ukraine, Europe's largest, which Moscow and Kyiv have accused each other of shelling.

In his nightly video address Wednesday, Zelensky reaffirmed his demand for the Russian military to leave the plant, emphasizing that only absolute transparency and control of the situation at and around the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant for the Ukrainian state, for the international community, and for the IAEA can guarantee a gradual return to normal nuclear safety. The International Atomic Energy Agency is a UN agency. Russia has rejected the demand. Erdogan's office has confirmed that he would discuss the grain deal during the talks as well as ways to end the war through diplomatic means.

Earlier this month, the Turkish leader met on the same issues with Russian President Vladimir Putin.

In March, Turkey hosted a round of talks between Russian and Ukrainian negotiators, who discussed a possible deal to end the hostilities. The talks fell apart after the meeting in Istanbul, with both sides blaming each other.

Erdogan has engaged in a delicate balancing act, maintaining good relations with both Russia and Ukraine. Turkey has provided Ukraine with drones, which played a significant role in deterring a Russian advance early in the conflict, but it has refrained from joining Western sanctions against Russia over the war.

Looking forward to more work on OTT, but will never shut my doors to TV: Drashti Dhami Popular TV actor Drashti Dhami says she owes her career to the small screen but is going with the flow exploring the fairly new territory of the OTT space.

Dhami, known for hit serials such as "Geet Hui Sabse Parayi" and "Madhubala Ek Ishq Ek Junoon", made her digital debut with the Disney+ Hotstar series "The Empire" in 2020. Coming from television, the 37-year-old actor said she had to undergo transformation as a performer to get used to the longer format of storytelling on the web.

"I will always be in love with TV. I am what I am because of TV. Having said that, I'm enjoying this zone because this is very different from what I have done in the past. This is more real to some level, more raw. In TV, we don't get to prepare for a role, here we do that a lot.

"There was a lot of undoing for me when I got on to OTT. I'm glad OTT has also welcomed me so nicely. I'm proud of where I have reached on my own today. I can never shut my doors to TV but right now I'm just going with the flow. I'm looking forward to more work on OTT," Dhami told PTI in an interview.

She will next be seen in the ZEE5 series "Duranga", the official adaptation of the hit K-drama "Flower of Evil".

In the upcoming show, the actor plays the role of Ira, a super cop who gradually discovers that her husband Sammit (Gulshan Devaiah) might not be as picture perfect as she believes him to be. The series is directed by Pradeep Sarkar and Aijaz Khan. It is shownrun by Goldie Behl, who has co-produced the project via his Rose Audio Visuals along with Shradha Singh.

Boarding "Duranga" was a no-brainer for her, said Dhami. "When I got to know that Pradeep Sarkar, Aijaz Khan well," she added.

The Mumbai-born actor said she had to work hard to prepare for the character, whom she described as a woman who is strong both physically and mentally. "I have never played a character like this, someone so strong. I had to work on my body language.

"We had a couple of chase sequences in the show, along with an underwater sequence. They would put weights on us to stay underwater during training sessions. The experience has been amazing."

Dhami said she admired her character Ira for striking the correct balance between her work and personal life.

"Her perfect family and husband was beyond anything else for Ira. Since what happens in her workplace kind of has a correlation with her husband and the past, the conflict in her mind between what to believe and what not to was the highlight of the story for me."

Like her co-star Devaiah, Dhami said she didn't watch the original Korean drama as she wanted to have a fresh take on it.

"I thought it's better to have a fresh take on what we are doing and in my own mind, I didn't want to compare. I didn't want those conflicts in my mind. I've still not watched it ('Flower of Evil'). Let's see. I'll watch my show first, then probably I'll watch it," she said.

Indian athletes expressed their elation at being honoured by Prime Minister Narendra Modi for their superlative showing at Birmingham Commonwealth Games with Nikhat Zareen gifting him her boxing gloves and sprinter Hima Das giving the traditional Assamese gamocha.

Modi, on Saturday, hosted the Indian contingent at his residence to felicitate the players.

The Indian athletes produced a sensational show in Birmingham, claiming 61 medals, including 22 gold, 16 silver and 23 bronze.

"Honoured to gift the boxing gloves signed by all the pugilists to our honourable Prime Minister @narendramodi sir. Thank you for this amazing opportunity. A great day spent with my fellow athletes who have made the country proud," Nikhat tweeted.

The star boxer, world championship gold medalist, won the yellow metal in her weight category at the Games.

Games 2022. Fortunate to have presented him with our traditional gamcha, wrapped with immense gratitude from all of Assam."

Champion weightlifter Mirabai Chanu, who won the gold medal without breaking a sweat, a year after her historic silver at the Tokyo Olympics, thanked the PM for his words of encouragement. "Honoured to meet & interact with our Honourable Prime Minister @narendramodi

'Dobaaraa': A thriller that will linger in your head for a long time

Anurag Kashyap has returned 'dobaara' with 'Dobaaraa', two years after his last streaming movie 'Choked' on Netflix. The film not just marks his reunion with his 'Manmarziyaan' actress Taapsee Pannu, but also marks his return to the genre of thrillers, his last outing being the Vicky Kaushal and Nawazuddin Siddiqui-starrer 'Raman Raghav 2.0'.

The film is an official remake of the Spanish mystery-drama film 'Mirage'.

Kashyap, who is known for his offbeat stories, doesn't miss a beat in the film as he sketches up a fine thriller that will keep you hooked till the last frame and will linger in your thoughts long after you have stepped out of the cinema.

The treatment rendered to the film is such that you have to be heavily invested as a viewer, for the devil lies in the details. The film tells the story of a nurse, Antara Vashisht (played by Taapsee Pannu), who saves a child named Anay from impending death by accessing and altering the events in the past through a television.

This is also where it gets interesting. The changes in past occurrences have their repercussions on Antara's present and future, as both get altered, a phenomenon known as the 'Consistency Paradox' in Physics, which is conveniently ignored in the majority of films that deal with time travel.

War drama 'Pippa' to release on December 2

Bollywood Actor Ishaan-starrer war drama "Pippa" will make its debut in theatres a week early on December 2, the makers announced on Monday. Backed by producers Ronnie Screwvala and Siddharth Roy Kapur, the film is directed by Raja Krishna Menon, best known for Akshay Kumar-led "Airlift".

"Pippa" is billed as a heroic tank battle film, that underscores the bravery of Brigadier Balram Singh Mehta (Ishaan), a veteran of the 45th Cavalry tank squadron, who, along with his siblings, fought on the eastern front during the Indo-Pakistan War of 1971. On the occasion of India's 76th Independence Day, the makers unveiled the film's teaser and also announced its new release date. The movie was earlier scheduled for release on December 9.

Screwvala said they are looking forward to presenting the film to audiences worldwide.

"Pippa", set in 1971 against the backdrop of one of the largest refugee migrations in modern history that then led to the liberation and formation of a country, is a story that must be told and we can't wait to unravel the scale of this epic movie to audiences world-wide on December 2," the producer said in a statement.

"Pippa" is based on "The Burning Chaffees", written by Brigadier Balram Singh Mehta. The movie takes its title from the Russian amphibious war tank called the PT-76, popularly known as "Pippa". Maestro AR Rahman has composed the music. Roy Kapur said they are honoured to bring out the inspiring story of "Pippa".
